WHAT IS A HOKIE?

That's a frequently asked question in Virginia Tech athletics, and the answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer, and a contest for that purpose was held by the student body. Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell which is still used today. Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell. It soon became a nickname for all Virginia Tech teams and those people loyal to Tech athletics. The official school colors – Chicago maroon and burnt orange – also were introduced in 1896. They were chosen because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.

The HokieBird – Virginia Tech's lovable mascot

OFFENSIVE LINE

HEADLINES

Key Losses: tackle Blake DeChristopher; tackle Andrew Lanier; guard Jaymes Brooks; guard Greg Nosal

Key Returnees: center Andrew Miller

Tech lost four players who started every game over the past two seasons. Redshirt junior Andrew Miller started 14 games at center last fall and began taking over a leadership role up front during spring practice.

Point of Interest: Brent Benedict came out of spring practice on top at right guard but the job is not quite locked up yet. Caleb Farris and Laurence Gibson will still have a say in the matter come August.

Player to Watch: If redshirt senior Michael Via can bounce back from his ACL surgery of last winter, he could give the offensive line a tremendous boost. Via has the ability to help provide the depth the Hokies are in need of at the tackle positions.

LEFTTACKLE

Nick Becton (r-Sr.) – Becomes an anchor guy after splitting time the past two seasons ... Has all the tools to play at that level ... Gives you the protection aspect with his size and long arms ... Coaches want him to be a leader for the offensive line.

Mark Shuman (r-So.) – Was the best backup at tackle during the spring ... Possesses the size and athletic ability for the position, but has been slowed by injuries ... Must continue working to improve ... Getting him healthy and ready is a focal point.

LEFT GUARD

David Wang (r-Jr.) – Moved into the starting position during the spring and was named the offensive player who had an exceptional spring ... A physical player who is ready to play after missing the past two seasons due to injuries ... Coaches feel his technique is the best they have had at the position.

Matt Arkema (r-So.) – Was much improved during the spring ... Will be a top backup and perhaps a spare starter at guard ... Could also fill in at center if needed ... Has good skills and athletic ability ... Will have an important role along the line.

CENTER

Andrew Miller (r-Jr.) – Is now the Hokies' most experienced lineman after starting all 14 games last fall ... Helped bring the line together during spring practice ... A tough, hard-nosed player with excellent ability ... Must continue to be a leader during the summer ... Will be a big factor in how the line does when the season rolls around.

Caleb Farris (So.) – Will be the top backup at center this fall but will also get a shot at the starting right guard duties when practice resumes ... Has shown maturity and toughness ... Combines good footwork with solid technique ... Gives the Hokies some versatility.

Michael Via (r-Sr.) – A talented and valuable player who has been plagued by injuries ... Joins Andrew Miller as the only current Tech offensive linemen with a collegiate start ... Played most of last season with a torn ACL ... Missed spring workouts ... Can play any of the line positions ... Coaches will see where he can best help the team.

RIGHT GUARD

Brent Benedict (r-So.) – Heads into August as the leading candidate for the starting spot ... Has great work habits ... Is ready to go in the run game but still needs to improve in the pass protection phase ... A highly regarded transfer from the University of Georgia.

Laurence Gibson (r-So.) – Was in the competition for the starting job during the spring ... Brings a lot of length to the position ... Has the physical tools but hasn't quite been able to get over the hump ... Will get another shot in August.

RIGHTTACKLE

Vinston Painter (r-Sr.) – Took over as the starter in the spring ... Has not been on the field in many live, first-team situations, but his hard work off the field has helped put him in a leadership role ... Got a lot of reps and direction during the spring ... Really improved in his run blocking ... Is motivated to have a good season.

Jake Goins (r-Fr.) – Has natural ability but is not playing as fast as he needs to ... That should improve as he continues to get a better feel for the offense ... Needs to use the summer to get bigger, faster and stronger ... Will battle for a backup role in August.

COACH NEWSOME ON THE OFFENSIVE LINE:

"It was a new group out there in the spring. We had some guys coming off injuries and we had some guys who hadn't been out there, but we always played to the whistle. We created a tempo getting to the line of scrimmage and sped that tempo up. I think we played harder throughout the spring. Our blitz pick-up was better, our protection of the quarterback was better and we were able to run the football some. I knew it would take a little time, but they gelled as a unit."

RECEIVERS & TIGHT ENDS

SPLIT END

D.J. Coles (Sr.) – Is expected to be one of the Hokies' top offensive weapons in 2012 ... Did not see contact work during the spring after injuring his knee late in the fall ... Is on pace to return to action ... Had a personal-best 36 catches for 480 yards and three touchdowns in 2011 ... Team needs him back in shape and running full speed.

Dyrell Roberts (r-Sr.) – With Coles out, moved to split end and picked up a lot of valuable reps during the spring ... Has missed parts of the past two seasons due to injuries, but has played in a lot of big games for the Hokies ... A playmaker with all the skill sets ... Coaches are happy to have him back as both a player and a leader.

Corey Fuller (r-Sr.) – Was named the most improved offensive player of the spring ... Has good size and speed ... Showed he can step up and be productive, he just needs to focus on doing it on a regular basis ... If so, he will be in the receiving rotation.

Kevin Asante (r-Fr.) – A young player who has shown good promise ... Works hard and can really run ... Brings a physical presence to the position ... Still has some work to do on route running and perimeter blocking, but has a chance to contribute early.

FLANKER

Marcus Davis (r-Sr.) – The No. 1 guy ... A playmaker who is big, fast, physical and athletic ... Had 30 catches and a team-best 17 yards per catch average in 2011 ... Tied for the team lead with five TD receptions ... Must take a leadership role and be focused and consistent.

Demitri Knowles (r-Fr.) – Brings a lot of bigplay capabilities to the offense and special teams ... Showed some consistency and great effort during the spring ... Must continue working on his blocking and his route running ... Has a chance to play a big role ths fall.

COACH SHERMAN ON THE WIDE RECEIVERS:

"This summer is going to be big from a physical standpoint in the weight room, but even more importantly for working on the timing with Logan (Thomas) and the quarterbacks and getting a little more consistency in the passing game. That is an area we are going to need to improve on this summer and in preseason camp. These guys are hungry and are buying into the approach we are trying to take offensively this coming year. I like where we are; I like where we are headed. The expectations are high and they understand what it takes to play at a high level."

TIGHT END

Eric Martin (Sr.) – The Hokies' most experienced tight end ... Brings toughness to the position ... Was the No. 2 tight end each of the past two seasons ... A solid player the coaches can dependable on.

Randall Dunn (r-Sr.) – Brings a dimension to the position that the coaches like ... Is athletic and runs well ... Still has good ball skills from his wide receiver days ... Has made the adjustment to the position and earned the right to compete for the starting job.

Ryan Malleck (So.) – Coaches really like his frame and potential ... Still has some work to do, but catches the ball well and brings something to the running game with his size ... Will look to improve his footwork over the summer and battle for playing time in August.

COACH STINESPRING ON THE TIGHT ENDS:

"Overall, I was pleased with the spring, but I know we can get to another level in terms of our play. Each guy was inconsistent at times, but also at times played to the level I thought they could get to in terms of helping us win. We had to build a foundation by each guy playing to his strength and developing his confidence. Now we are ready to start building on what we accomplished. We need to expand on the diversity within the group and I believe we will. The starting job is wide open. We have capable candidates, but I would like to see somebody separate himself from the pack."

HEADLINES

Key Losses: split end Jarrett Boykin; flanker Danny Coale; tight end Chris Drager

Key Returnees: split end D.J. Coles; flanker Marcus Davis; flanker Dyrell Roberts

Boykin and Coale departed ranked No. 1 and No. 2, respectively, in career pass receptions at Virginia Tech. Coles and Davis combined for 66 catches and eight TDs last season, while Roberts is a proven playmaker who returns after missing all but three games last season due to injury.

Point of Interest: The graduation of Drager left a void at tight end that led to good competition but no resolution during the spring. Eric Martin and Randall Dunn lead the way heading into preseason practice, but whoever shows the most versatility when the competition resumes is likely to get the nod.

Player to Watch: Redshirt freshman Demitri Knowles has shown the explosiveness and speed that the Hokies are looking for. He could be a big part of the offense and special teams this fall.

RUNNING BACKS & QBS

HEADLINES

Key Losses: tailback David Wilson; tailback Josh Oglesby

Key Returnees: quarterback Logan Thomas; fullback Joey Phillips

With Wilson gone to the NFL early and Oglesby having graduated, the Hokies have a lot of new faces at the tailback spot. Not so at quarterback, where Thomas had a record-setting first season, or at fullback, where Phillips is a veteran.

Point of Interest: Michael Holmes earned the top spot at tailback during the spring, leaving an interesting pool of talent for the remaining spots. Senior bruiser Martin Scales and speedy true freshman J.C. Coleman made good impressions during the spring and will be joined in August by some highly touted newcomers. Tony Gregory, who sat out the spring, could also be in the mix.

Player to Watch: Redshirt freshman Michael Holmes showed consistency and playmaking ability on the way to winning the tailback job in the spring.

TAILBACK

Michael Holmes (r-Fr.) - Has a firm hold on the tailback job after being named the top offensive newcomer of spring practice ... Showed consistency, a great work ethic and toughness ... Studies the game to try and get better ... Has a knack for making plays ... Possesses good vision and the ability to make a cut and get upfield in a hurry ... Will be hard to beat out in August.

Martin Scales (r-Sr.) - His switch from fullback to tailback during the spring was a good move ... Brings another dimension to the position with his size and bruising north-south style of running ... Will continue to get better at the position.

J.C. Coleman (Fr.) – Entered school straight from high school in January ... Showed maturity beyond his years ... Made plays and got better ... Is tough and fast ... Will need to get stronger and be able to hold up between the tackles ... Has the right approach to succeed.

FULLBACK

Joey Phillips (r-Sr.) - Started last season and did an outstanding job ... Is experienced and smart ... Doesn't miss assignments ... Is a physical blocker ... A weight room warrior with a great work ethic ... Had the top power clean on the team during the offseason ... Also contributes on special teams.

Riley Beiro (r-So.) - Got a lot of reps during the spring and took a step forward ... Has what you are looking for from the fullback standpoint ... A tough guy who will compete and battle you every step ... A Super Iron Hokie in the weight room.

COACH SHANE BEAMER ON THE RUNNING BACKS:

"I'm pleased with the group overall, I thought the spring was really productive. I think that we've got guys that complement each other well. The concern is just the lack of experience at tailback. We've got a lot of guys in that meeting room who have never played in a college football game or carried the ball in a college football game. We have to try to identify who our top three or four guys are going to be early in the preseason and give them the work and see what comes out of it. As for fullback, fullback is good. I think with the group we have, we can keep them on the field and be able to do some different things with them, like we have done in seasons past."

QUARTERBACK

Logan Thomas (r-Jr.) - Finds himself surrounded by a lot of new faces with only two returning starters joining him from last year's offense ... Spent much of the spring making the adjustment to the new cast ... Is coming off of a record-setting first season as a starter ... Posted a Tech season record 3,482 yards of total offense and registered the second highest single-season passing total for a Hokie with 3,013 yards ... Tossed 19 TD passes and ran for 11 more ... Is big and strong ... Makes good decisions and remains poised under pressure ... Was named the offensive MVP of spring practrice ... A year ago, his experience was a weakness, now it is one of his strong points.

Mark Leal (r-So.) - Missed a portion of spring practice due to a respiratory illness ... Was in all the team meetings so coaches feel they can get him caught up when practice resumes ... Did a good job adjusting to the Tech system last season ... His understanding of the passing game, poise and demeanor are real assets ... The coaches have confidence in his ability to do the job.

COACH O'CAIN ON THE QUARTERBACKS:

"Overall, I feel good. We didn't get to accomplish everything that we wanted to in the spring, mainly because Mark Leal missed the last part of practice, but I was very pleased with the progress that Logan (Thomas) made. I thought he picked up where he left off in the fall. We've changed a few things and obviously don't have the same set of receivers out there, so it took him a few days to get adjusted, but I think he got better every day. We've still got a lot of work to do, particularly in the timing of the passing game with quite a few new receivers in the mix. Come August, it will be critical that we get everybody on the same page."

DEFENSIVE LINE

HEADLINES

Key Losses: none

Key Returnees: tackle Antoine Hopkins; tackle Derrick Hopkins; end James Gayle; end J.R. Collins

Not only do all four starters return, so do the top four backups, including Luther Maddy who started seven games last year as a true freshman when Antoine Hopkins was lost due to a knee injury.

Point of Interest: After returning just one starter on the D-line last year, the top eight return this fall. However, that doesn't mean there won't be any challenges from new faces. Expect redshirt freshmen Dadi Nicolas and Kris Harley to battle for playing time at end and tackle, respectively.

Player to Watch: Tech's coaches have been waiting for talented end Zack McCray to let himself go. This may be the season, as McCray showed the physical side that had been missing, while playing well at both end and tackle during the spring.

END

James Gayle (r-Jr.) — A dynamic football player who gets noticed on the field ... Has high expectations after being named second-team All-ACC in his first season as a starter ... Tied for sixth in the league in sacks with seven last season ... His 12.5 tackles for loss were second-best on the team ... Could become one of the nation's top defenders if he stays healthy.

J.R. Collins (r-Jr.) – A very productive performer who plays with a lot of emotion ... Is physical and chases down plays ... Started 13 games at end last season and started at tackle in the win over Georgia Tech ... Led the defensive line in tackles with 57 and the team in QB hurries with 29.

Tyrel Wilson (r-Jr.) – Showed a tremendous amount of toughness getting through spring and improving despite a severely strained hamstring ... Played a key role in the defense's success last fall ... Stepped in and started two games when needed ... Will battle for playing time.

Zack McCray (r-So.) – Will likely see playing time at both end and tackle ... Showed he could handle that during the spring ... Plays hard and has gotten more physical ... Could still use a little more weight.

Dadi Nicolas (r-Fr.) – Was in the conversation for the most improved player of the spring ... Has a lot of potential and room for growth, but is extremely raw ... Combines an outstanding work ethic with excellent speed ... Could be in the mix in August.

TACKLE

Antoine Hopkins (r-Sr.) – A two-year starter who is a force in the middle ... Missed the last nine games in the fall with a knee injury and sat out spring practice ... Will use the summer to get back in shape ... Can expect some competition when he returns.

Derrick Hopkins (Jr.) – Started every game in 2011 ... Played great but seldom got to rest due to depth issues ... Got worn down at times ... Should benefit from playing fewer snaps this fall ... Strong against the run but needs to get after the passer more ... A key player on the D-line.

Luther Maddy (So.) – Burst on the scene as a freshman, starting seven games after Antoine Hopkins was injured ... Got better each time out ... Played well in the Sugar Bowl ... Capped the year by being named the most valuable defensive performer in spring practice ... Is disruptive in the middle ... Will be hard to keep out of the lineup.

Corey Marshall (So.) – Moved from end to tackle when injuries struck last year ... Started a game and gave the team a boost ... Will likely see some action at both spots this fall ... Is athletic and runs well.

Kris Harley (r-Fr.) – A highly regarded player who learned the importance of preparation during a redshirt season ... Got in shape and had a strong spring showing ... Put himself in position to play an important role this fall.

COACH WILES ON THE DEFENSIVE LINE:

"We need to be better than we were last year, and I'll be disappointed if we're not. I think right now we have five true defensive tackles with Antoine Hopkins included in that group. We're expecting him to come back full speed and we've explained to him the importance of his summer preparation because we are going to start the best guys. I'm looking to play two groups and play them 35-40 plays each, especially at tackle. It may not be that equal at end where we have a little bit bigger drop-off between our ones and twos right now. We're trying to get our best, fastest, athletic guys and put them in a position to get on the field where we can really maximize our personnel and keep them fresh."

LINEBACKERS

Bruce Taylor (r-Sr.) – As good a defensive player as there is in the ACC when he's healthy ... Missed the last six games of the 2011 season and spring practice with a foot injury ... Can help the Hokies be really good if he returns and plays at the level he was playing before the injury ... Is big, tough and athletic ... Plays with great instincts and speed ... A key player for the Hokies.

Jack Tyler (r-Jr.) – Took over the starting duties for the final six games last season ... Played extremely well ... Has great vision and instincts ... Performed at a high level while getting the bulk of the reps in the spring ... A proven player at the position.

BACKER

Tariq Edwards (r-Jr.) – Coaches think he is a star in the making ... Was very productive while starting every game last fall ... Had 71 tackles, including 11.5 for losses ... Hokies need him back at full speed after missing spring practice ... Is a perfect fit for the backer position.

Chase Williams (r-So.) – Got all the first team snaps at backer during the spring ... Stepped up and improved every day ... Possesses playmaking abilities and a tremendous football IQ ... Plays hard ... Has the coaches' trust ... Gives the Hokies quality depth at the position.

COACH FOSTER ON THE INSIDE LINEBACKERS:

"Linebacker-wise, there should be some great battles. Obviously, we've got to get Bruce (Taylor) back full speed and we've got to get Tariq (Edwards) back full speed. If those guys do that, I think they can both be as good of linebackers as there are in the ACC. I really like the the improvement and development of Jack Tyler and Chase Williams during the spring. I think those two guys really performed at a high level and will give us quality depth."

WHIF

Jeron Gouveia-Winslow (r-Sr.) – Has opened the past two seasons as the starter at whip linebacker, posting 12 starts at the position ... Will have to battle for the job this fall after missing the last half of the 2011 season and the majority of spring practice with a foot injury ... His experience and football savvy make him a big plus for the Hokies.

Alonzo Tweedy (r-Sr.) – Took over the first-team duties during in the spring and made the most of it ... Showed his playmaking ability and made a big improvement in understanding the defense ... Has all the intangibles you want at whip ... Took ownership of the position and will try to keep it.

Ronny Vandyke (r-Fr.) – A big, physical player who brings the total package to the position ... Makes overall preparation for a game and gets involved in every part ... Can create mismatches ... Is expected to get reps throughout the season.

COACH BROWN ON THE WHIP LINEBACKERS:

All three returning starters – Taylor, Edwards and Gouveia-Winslow – missed spring practice due to injuries, but the Hokies turned it into a positive by developing some much-needed depth at all three spots.

Point of Interest: Starter Jeron Gouveia-Winslow returns at whip linebacker after missing spring practice, but with Alonzo Tweedy and Ronny Vandyke both coming off outstanding spring performances, holding on to the top spot will become a lot harder.

Player to Watch: The coaches feel Bruce Taylor is as good a defensive player as there is in the ACC, and if he can get back from his injury and perform at that level, he can help the Tech defense be really good.

depth that Ronny Vandyke brings to the position. As a group, we want to help the defense get back to where it has been, being a play-making, exciting defense with the whip position being a major factor in the whole game plan."

DEFENSIVE SECONDARY

HEADLINES

Key Losses: cornerback Jayron Hosley; cornerback Cris Hill; free safety Eddie Whitley

Key Returnees: cornerback Kyle Fuller; safety Antone Exum

Many feel Fuller was the Hokies' top defensive player last season. He led the team in tackles for loss with 14.5 and was fourth in total tackles with 65. Exum was the team's leading tackler with 89, while starting every game at safety.

Point of Interest: The coaches experimented with the secondary during the spring, moving safety Antone Exum to cornerback and corners Detrick Bonner and Kyshoen Jarrett to the safety positions. The results were extremely positive, giving the Hokies a new-look secondary with Bonner at free safety, Jarrett at rover and Exum at corner along with Kyle Fuller.

Players to Watch: Sophomore Boye Aromire and true freshman Donaldven Manning will be playing important roles as the top backups at the safety and cornerback spots, respectively.

CORNERBACK

Kyle Fuller (Jr.) – Has a skill set to do almost anything you ask for in the secondary ... Is slated to start at a cornerback spot this fall after excelling primarily as the nickel back the past two seasons ... A good tackler who is smart and can play man coverage ... Coaches are hoping he can become a lockdown corner.

Antone Exum (r-Jr.) – After starting 18 games at safety over the past two seasons, was moved to corner as part of a spring experiment ... Adjusted so well he will remain there ... Did a great job in the coverage and mental aspects ... Was also very physical ... Coaches want to turn him loose and let him play.

Donaldven Manning (Fr.) – Joined the team in January straight out of Miami Central High School ... Showed he was ahead of the curve for a true freshman ... Plays a lot bigger than his size and has good instincts ... If he continues his progress, he will be the third corner ... Coaches are confident he can step in and be solid.

FREE SAFETY

Detrick Bonner (r-So.) – Switched from corner to safety during spring workouts ... Picked up the mental aspect quickly and moved into the top spot ... A communicator and take-charge guy ... Made plays in coverage and was physical against the run on the way to being named the most improved offensive player of the spring.

Boye Aromire (So.) – Played a limited roll on special teams and in the secondary as a true freshman in 2011 ... Came on strong during the spring and earned a chance to play ... Took control from a communication standpoint and got players lined up ... Heads into August as the top backup at both safety spots.

ROVER

Kyshoen Jarrett (So.) – Worked at both safety spots during the spring after seeing limited action at cornerback in 2011 ... Was inconsistent at times but coaches feel he will be fine when he's concentrating solely on the rover spot this fall ... Is physical enough to play safety ... Also a potential punt returner.

Michael Cole (r-Fr.) – A hard worker who runs well and exhibits toughness ... Has gotten a look at both safety spots but his progress has been hampered by nagging injuries ... Is scheduled to be a backup at rover when practice resumes.

COACH GRAY ON THE SECONDARY:

"Going into spring practice, we moved Antone (Exum) to cornerback and Detrick Bonner and Kyshoen Jarrett to safety. I liked the progression that those guys made, along with Kyle (Fuller) playing corner the whole spring. The moves worked out positive for us so we'll go into the fall leaving things as they are. When we come back, we still want to get the chemistry of the first group to become second nature. We had the spring but we still have three guys who have changed positions, so you want to get them solidified before that first game. We also want to build flexibility and depth. Right now, our third corner is Donaldven Manning who had a good enough spring that I feel he would be able to step in and be solid for us. We are going to have to count on an incoming freshman to be a fourth corner."

SPECIAL TEAMS

HEADLINES

Key Losses: kickoff man Justin Myer; snapper Collin Carroll; punt returner Jayron Hosley; kickoff returner David Wilson

Key Returnees: kickoff returner Dyrell Roberts

The Hokies' special teams suffered through an uncharacteristic season that saw inconsistency permeate the kicking game. When spring practice failed to offer any comfort, Coach Frank Beamer made improved kicking a priority for the preseason.

Point of Interest: The emphasis on improving the overall kicking game will bring some talented newcomers to the mix in August, making for plenty of healthy competition for the starting jobs.

Player to Watch: Michael Branthover was pressed into action for seven games last season as a true freshman but could never get into a rhythm. He has the leg and talent needed as both a punter and kicker and will head into August as the top returning candidate at both spots.

PLACE-KICKER

Michael Branthover (So.) – Competed for all three of the kicking jobs last season as a true freshman ... Has a strong leg, but could never show enough consistency to win the place-kicking duties ... Served as the starting punter for seven games ... Kicked during the spring, making one of three field goal tries during scrimmages ... Will get another chance when practice resumes in August.

Conor Goulding (r-So.) – Will concentrate on his place-kicking after also competing as a punter the past two falls ... Gets the ball up in the air quickly, but needs to get a more consistent flight ... Made five of six field goal tries during spring scrimmages, with a long of 42 ... Summer will be important.

PUNTER

Michael Branthover (So.) – Took over the punting duties after five games last season ... Boomed a 75-yard punt against Duke that tied for the second longest in school history ... Kicked in seven games averaging 36.6 yards on 25 punts ... Showed talent but battled inconsistency all season ... Averaged 38.9 yards on eight punts during spring scrimmages.

Ethan Keyserling (r-So.) – Has a strong leg ... Was in the mix last season but couldn't find the needed consistency ... Finished the spring with 38.3-yard

Michael Branthover

Scott Demler

average on six punts during scrimmages ... Had a long punt of 61 yards ... Will rejoin the competition in August.

Scott Demler (r-Sr.) – Opened the 2011 season as the Hokies' starting punter ... Saw action in the first five games, averaging 33.1 yards on 23 kicks ... Dressed for several games while sharing the backup punting duties in 2010.

SNAPPER

Joe St. Germain (r-So.) – The leading candidate for the starting job after serving as the backup to starter Collin Carroll the past two seasons ... Has good skills and coverage ability ... Missed some time in spring but will be ready to go in August.

Lukas Stump (r-So.) – Another candidate with promise ... Has benefited from his work in the strength and conditioning program ... Coverage ability is a plus, but consistency will be the key.

HOLDER

Trey Gresh (r-So.) – Returns as the starter after handling all of the snaps on placements last season ... Mark Leal will handle the backup duties.

RETURN MEN

Dyrell Roberts (r-Sr.), Kyshoen Jarrett (So.), Kyle Fuller (Jr.), Demitri Knoles (r-Fr.), Antone Exum (r-Jr.), Tony Gregory (r-Jr.) – Roberts is Tech's alltime leader in kickoff returns and wants to give punt returning a try ... Roberts has averaged 25.9 yards per return on kickoffs ... Gregory, who is coming off knee surgery, is the only other candidate with collegiate experience, having returned 17 kickoffs last season for an average of 19.7 yards ... Knowles and Exum are slated to work on kickoffs, while Jarrett and Fuller handle punts ... Another player who will likely get a look on punt returns is Willie Byrn (r-Fr.).

COACH FRANK BEAMER ON THE SPECIAL TEAMS:

"You talk about a priority, getting our special teams established early in preseason practice is really going to be a priority. We haven't had a season, special teams-wise, quite like last season. The thing that has been disappointing is that we've really got good kickers, but no one in the group has really taken over being that consistent guy that you look for. I think a large group of our special teams candidates could be people who just graduated from high school. We have some candidates coming in here snapping-wise, punting-wise and field goal-wise who are very talented."

MEET THE COACHES

HEAD COACH

FRANK BEAMER

COACH HAS LED HOKIES TO 19 CONSECUTIVE BOWL APPEARANCES

When Frank Beamer accepted the job as head football coach at his alma mater in 1987, his goal was for the Virginia Tech football program to reach a consistent level of excellence. The Hokies have come a long way since then, and, along the way, Beamer has become one of the most respected and successful coaches on the college football scene. He enters the 2012 campaign –his 26th in Blacksburg – as the winningest active coach in the FBS with 251 career wins.

Under Beamer, Tech football has enjoyed unprecedented success with 19 consecutive bowl appearances, four ACC titles, five ACC Coastal Division crowns, three BIG EAST Conference titles, six BCS appearances, two "major" bowl victories and a trip to the national championship game. Since the beginning of the 1995 season, no team in the FBS has more wins than Virginia Tech, and the Hokies have finished in the Top 20 in 16 of the past 20 seasons, including four top-10 finishes during the last eight years.

The Hokies couldn't have asked for anyone better to guide their football program into the ACC. In 2004 – Tech's first season in the league – Beamer and his staff led a young team picked to finish sixth in the league to an ACC title and a BCS Bowl. That team also won the league's 2004 Fall Sportsmanship Award for football, yet another tribute to the program Beamer and his staff have built. A year later, the Hokies produced an 11-2 record, won the ACC Coastal Division title, earned a spot in the inaugural league championship contest and appeared in a bowl game. Beamer was named the ACC Coach of the Year both seasons.

After the 2006 squad went 10-3 with a bowl appearance, Beamer's 2007 Tech team won the conference title and played Kansas in the Orange Bowl. Beamer was named the 2007 Southeast Coach of the Year by Sports Unlimited magazine and was a finalist for both the Paul "Bear" Bryant and Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year awards. The Hokies went 11-3 and finished ninth in the final national polls.

The 2008 season may have been Beamer's finest effort as he took one of the youngest teams in his tenure, played one of the toughest schedules and, despite several setbacks and disappointing losses, led the Hokies to an ACC title and a 20-7 win over Cincinnati in the FedEx Orange Bowl. In 2009, the Hokies kept rolling, winning 10 games including an impressive victory over Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Bowl.

In 2010, after an unexpected 0-2 start, he led Tech to 11 wins, an ACC title and a berth in the Discover Orange Bowl to cap off another impressive season. He was also named the winner of the inaugural Joseph V. Paterno Coach of the Year Award, recognizing Beamer for his team's performance on the field, in the classroom and in the community.

Last season, Beamer led the Hokies to 11 wins and an appearance in the ACC Championship Game after capturing another Coastal Division crown. The Hokies finished with an 11-3 overall mark, including a berth in the Allstate Sugar Bowl against Michigan, Tech's eighth "major" bowl game appearance.

Beamer, who was the consensus National Coach of the Year in 1999, is the active leader among Division I FBS coaches in victories with 251 over 31 seasons as a head coach. Now entering his 26th year at the Tech helm, his overall record as the head man of the Hokies stands at 209-98-2. He became Tech's winningest football coach during the 1997 campaign. Counting six years as head coach at Murray State prior to joining the Hokies, Beamer's overall record is 251-121-4.

A spot in the Nokia Sugar Bowl to play top-ranked Florida State for the national championship focused widespread attention on Virginia Tech and its football program following the 1999 season. Although the Hokies fell short in their bid for the national title, they proved that they belong among the top teams in the college ranks.

For his part in the Hokies' magical 1999 season, Beamer earned eight national coach of the year awards. He was named the Bobby Dodd Coach of the Year, the GTE Coach of the Year, the Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year, the Paul 'Bear' Bryant Coach of the Year, The Associated Press Coach of the Year, the Walter Camp Football Foundation/Street & Smith's Coach of the Year, the Maxwell Football Club Coach of the Year and the Woody Hayes Coach of the Year. He also was named the BIG EAST Conference Coach of the Year for the third time.

Tech won the BIG EAST title in 1995 and 1999 and shared it in '96. Beamer was voted BIG EAST Coach of the Year by the league's coaches each of those seasons.

There have been plenty of other accolades for the Hokies' coach. Prior to the 2005 season, a Seattle Times poll of more than 40 coaches voted Frank Beamer as the current head coach for whom they had the most respect. When BIG EAST Conference football celebrated its first 10 years of existence in 2000, Beamer was voted the Coach of the Decade by the league's media. In 1997, he was inducted into The Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame.

The rise of the Tech football program has made Beamer a man in demand. It has opened doors to places he may never have dreamed of as a youngster growing up in Southwest Virginia.

In September 2000, Beamer was invited to the White House where he joined a select group that stood in the Rose Garden behind then-President Bill Clinton as he made remarks on the Conservation and Reinvestment Act. Beamer was one of the keynote speakers at the American Football Coaches Association Convention in 2000; and, in April 2001, he joined former Prime Minister of Great Britain Lady Margaret Thatcher as one of the featured speakers at SUCCESS 2001, one of the nation's most popular business seminars.

In April 2004, Beamer was presented with a Humanitarian Award by the National Conference for Community and Justice for his contributions to fostering justice, equity and community in the Roanoke Valley. An avid NASCAR fan, Beamer has been the official starter for races at Bristol Motor Speedway and Richmond International Raceway.

In 1990, Beamer received a new contract and a substantial pay raise. He refused the raise, however, until a time that all classified and faculty employees of the university could have the same opportunity for pay raises. Most state salaries had been frozen at the time. When offered a pay increase in 2006, he did not sign the agreement until his assistant coaches were taken care of first.

Another indication of Beamer's love for the university came on the night he was inducted into The Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame. He called it the biggest honor of his entire career. With the induction, he became the first active coach at the university to be honored in that fashion.

The 65-year-old Beamer, the first alumnus to guide the Hokies since the 1940s, took over the Tech reins from Bill Dooley in January 1987. He began work a few days after the Hokies had beaten North Carolina State in the Peach Bowl. It took a while for him to get the Hokies moving in the right direction because the football program was hit with NCAA sanctions at the time.

But everything came together in the 1990s. The Techmen finished 9-3 in 1993 after beating Indiana, 45-20, in a wild Independence Bowl game. Tech followed up with an 8-4 season in 1994, losing to Tennessee, 45-23, in the Gator Bowl.

The Tech teams in 1995 and 1996 were among the best in school history. The 1995 team swept the BIG EAST Conference championship outright, and the 1996 club tied for the title with Syracuse and Miami.

The 1995 team was 9-2 during the regular season and then came up with a stirring 28-10 victory over Texas in the Sugar Bowl. The 1996 team went 10-1 during the regular season and lost to powerful Nebraska, 41-21, in the Orange Bowl after giving the Cornhuskers a fierce battle for three quarters.

STABILITY AT THE TOP EQUALS SUCCESS

One of the keys to the continuing success of Virginia Tech football has been the stability of the program. That stability begins at the top with head coach Frank Beamer, whose 25 years at the Hokie helm have helped the program develop a sense of the stability and consistency currently enjoyed by just a handful of other Division I-A schools. None of the 123 Division I-A head football coaches has been at their current schools consecutively longer than Beamer, who enters his 26th season at the helm of the Hokies.

COACHING EXCELLENCE

Virginia Tech defensive coordinator Bud Foster won the prestigious Broyles Award as the nation's top assistant coach following the 2006 season. Foster was a finalist for the award in 1999, 2001 and 2005. He was also named the No. 1 defensive coordinator in Division I-A by rivals.com prior to the 2005 season.

THE HIGHEST COMPLIMENT

In a Seattle Times poll of more than 40 Division I-A head football coaches prior to the 2005 season, Virginia Tech's Frank Beamer was picked as the most respected coach among current I-A head coaches.

Coach Frank Beamer reads to youngsters to promote the power of reading and literacy across the commonwealth of Virginia through Herma's Readers, a non-profit organization he formed as a tribute to his late mother. Herma Beamer.

Frank Beamer and his wife Cheryl celebrated the marriage of their daughter Casey to former Tech wrestler Canaan Prater earlier this summer.

The Hokies fell to 7-5 in 1997 and were beaten badly by North Carolina in the Gator Bowl, 42-3. But they came right back with a 9-3 mark in 1998 that included an impressive 38-7 victory over Alabama in the inaugural Music City Bowl in Nashville. Tenn.

The two winningest seasons in school history followed in 1999 and 2000 with the Hokies posting back-to-back 11-1 records. Tech registered its first-ever 11-0 regular-season record in '99 before losing its national championship battle with FSU.

In 2000, the Hokies' only blemish was a loss at Miami in the ninth game of the season. Both seasons, Tech climbed as high as No. 2 in The Associated Press poll, finishing No. 2 in '99 and No. 6 in 2000. The Hokies climbed as high as No. 5 in the 2001 AP poll and finished 18th. In 2002, Tech was ranked as high as No. 3 in the AP poll after posting consecutive wins over nationally ranked LSU (14th), Marshall (16th) and Texas A&M (19th). The Hokies' youthful team finished the season ranked 18th.

During the 2003 season, the Hokies ended No. 2 Miami's 39-game regular-season winning streak with a 31-7 victory. The 'Canes were the highestranked opponent Tech had ever beaten on the gridiron. The Hokies climbed as high as No. 3 in the polls before falling victim to inconsistent play during the final month of the season. Still, Tech earned eight wins for the 10th time in 11 seasons.

The 2004 season saw the Hokies bounce back to win their last eight games of the regular season, including victories against three nationally ranked teams – No. 6 West Virginia, No. 16 Virginia and No. 9 Miami.

Beamer's early Tech teams also registered many exciting victories. One of the most impressive came in 1990 when the Hokies capped the year with a 38-13 victory over arch-rival Virginia. During the 1989 season, Tech knocked off ninthranked West Virginia, 12-10, in Morgantown.

During his undergraduate days at Tech, Beamer started three years as a cornerback and played on the Hokies' 1966 and 1968 Liberty Bowl teams. He received a B.S. in distributive education from Tech in 1969 and a master's in guidance from Radford in 1972. Then came the start of the Beamer coaching career.

He began as an assistant at Radford High School from 1969 through 1971. Then, after one season as a graduate assistant at the University of Maryland, he went to The Citadel where he worked five seasons under Bobby Ross and one year under Art Baker. His last two years at The Citadel, Beamer was the defensive coordinator. In 1979, he went to Murray State as the defensive coordinator under Mike Gottfried. He was named head coach at MSU in 1981 and went on to compile a six-year record of 42-23-2.

The Tech coach was born in Mt. Airy, N.C., and grew up in Hillsville, Va. At Hillsville High, he earned 11 varsity letters as a three-sport athlete in football, basketball and baseball.

Beamer is married to the former Cheryl Oakley of Richmond, Va. They have two children, Shane, a former member of his dad's football team at Tech and now the associate head coach at Virginia Tech; and daughter Casey, a 2003 graduate of Tech. He has two grandchildren, Sutton and Olivia, daughters of Shane and his wife, Emily.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Frank Beamer, the first Tech alumnus to guide the Hokies' football program since the 1940s, has won more games at Tech than any other head football coach. Prior to Beamer, no other grid coach in Virginia Tech history had served more than 10 seasons as head coach. Beamer is also the most-tenured active FBS head coach, having been at his current school consecutively longer than any other coach in the nation.

With last season's visit to the Allstate Sugar Bowl, head coach Frank Beamer has led the Hokies to 19 straight bowl games. The 19 bowl appearances mark a tie for the highest by any active coach, tying him with Texas' Mack Brown.

BILLY HITE

ASSISTANT TO THE HEAD COACH AND SENIOR ADVISOR

Long-time assistant coach Billy Hite, who helped develop 28 running backs who have gone on to sign with NFL teams, continues in the role he moved into prior to the 2011 season as the assistant to the head coach and senior advisor of the staff. This move came after 34 seasons on the Tech coaching staff and his 10 years as the Hokies' associate head coach.

While the running backs coach, Hite helped produce nine of Virginia Tech's top 11 career rushing leaders and he was on the sidelines for more Virginia Tech football games than any other coach. He continues to be there on game days in his new role.

Hite came to Blacksburg as a member of Bill Dooley's football staff in 1978. He served as a recruiter and head jayvee coach his first two years, then took over as the offensive backfield coach in charge of tailbacks and fullbacks in 1980. He had been coaching Tech's running backs up until his promotion last February.

Hite remained at Tech when Frank Beamer took over in 1987 and was elevated to the position of assistant head coach by Beamer the following year. He was promoted to the new position of associate head coach in December 2000. In 1989, Hite filled in as the acting head coach when Beamer was sidelined following coronary angioplasty surgery and had to miss a home game versus Tulane. Hite didn't let the program down as he led the Hokies to an emotional 30-13 victory.

Hite's first tailback in 1980, Cyrus Lawrence, went on to establish Tech season and career marks for rushing yards. During the mid-1980s, Hite was credited with the development of Tech's famed "Stallions" backfield that featured Maurice Williams and Eddie Hunter.

In 2000, tailback Lee Suggs shattered school and BIG EAST Conference scoring records on the way to leading the nation in touchdowns and scoring. Suggs, who also led the conference in rushing, was selected the Co-BIG EAST Offensive Player of the Year.

During the 2001 season, with Suggs sidelined by an injury, true freshman tailback Kevin Jones came on to lead the team in rushing and set a Tech record for rushing yards by a freshman. Jones was named the BIG EAST Rookie of the Year.

In 2002, Suggs and Jones combined to become the most productive Tech twosome ever in terms of single-season rushing yardage, combining for over 2,000 yards. During the 2003 season, Jones earned consensus All-America honors before opting to leave early for the NFL Draft. He was a first-round pick of the Detroit Lions.

In 2010 the tailback trio of Darren Evans, Ryan Williams and David Wilson combined to rush for 1,920 yards and 21 touchdowns and after the season, Williams was taken in the second round of the 2011 NFL Draft by Arizona. Wilson was a first-round draft pick of the New York Giants in 2012.

In 2009, Williams earned All-America honors after breaking the school's single-season rushing record with 1,655 yards. A year before, Evans eclipsed the 1,200-yard mark and broke the school's freshman rushing record en route to all-conference honors. Evans also rushed for a school-record 253 yards in Tech's win over Maryland.

Hite, who was on the sidelines for 397 consecutive Tech games as a coach from 1978-2010, coached in 21 bowl games for the Hokies.

A native of Hyattsville, Md., Hite was a former star tailback at the University of North Carolina. He received a bachelor's degree in education in 1974.

Hite began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at UNC in 1974. He was a part-time assistant for the Tar Heels from 1975-77. Hite received one of his highest honors when he was inducted into the DeMatha High School Hall of Fame in 1992.

Hite is married to the former Anne Heen of Memphis, Tenn. They have two daughters, Kirsten, 27, and Bryn, 23, and a son, Griffin, 19, a redshirt freshman on the Tech football squad.

JIM CAVANAUGH

DIRECTOR OF RECRUITING AND HIGH SCHOOL RELATIONS

Jim Cavanaugh, who has played a major role in Virginia Tech's success since joining Frank Beamer's coaching staff in 1996, continues in his position on the staff as the director of recruiting and high school relations. The change came after 15 seasons as the Hokies' strong safety and outside linebackers coach and his nine years as Tech's recruiting coordinator.

No one has been more instrumental in bringing top-notch talent to the Tech program than Cavanaugh. He was named the No. 2 recruiting coordinator in the country in January, 2010 by Sporting News and, over a 13-year span, his recruiting skills have helped the Hokies attract, among others, prep All-Americans Michael Vick, Nathaniel Adibi, Victor Harris, D.J. Coles, Bryan Randall, Jonathan Lewis, Marcus Vick, Mark Shuman, Xavier Adibi, Dyrell Roberts, Chris Ellis and Corey Marshall. In his first year in his new role, he helped Tech sign five prep All-Americans.

Along with his success in attracting talent,

Cavanaugh was instrumental in helping players develop their talent once they joined the Tech program. During his first season on the job, in 1996, outside linebacker Brandon Semones led the team in tackles and earned second-team All-BIG EAST honors.

Cavanaugh also helped in the development of highly successful players, such as Pierson Prioleau, Cory Bird, Kevin McCadam, James Anderson, Cody Grimm and Aaron Rouse. Prioleau was a third-team All-America pick by The Sporting News in 1997 and is still playing in the NFL. Grimm went from walk-on to All-American under Cavanaugh and was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, starting several games for them last season.

McCadam was a fifth-round NFL selection by the Atlanta Falcons in 2002. Anderson, a twoyear starter at whip linebacker, was a third-round NFL draft pick of the Carolina Panthers in 2005 and had a breakout year last season, while Rouse was drafted in the third round by the Green Bay Packers in 2007.

Tech's appearance in the 2011 Discover Orange Bowl marked Cavanaugh's 27th postseason game as a coach and 19th in a row. A former star receiver at William & Mary, he is a veteran of 41 years coaching, including 37 as a full-time coach on the collegiate level. He has worked at two other Virginia schools – VMI and the University of Virginia – during his career and has been on the staff of five ACC schools – NC State, UVa, Maryland, North Carolina and Virginia Tech.

Cavanaugh coached at the University of North Carolina for eight years, and from 1982 through 1987, he worked under Bobby Ross and Joe Krivak at Maryland. He served two years at North Carolina State, three years under coach Bob Thalman at VMI, one year at Virginia and two years at Marshall. Cavanaugh began his collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant at NC State in 1972. He has been a part of 11 conference championships and has been associated with four Hall of Fame

Coaches (played for Marv Levy at W&M; coached with Lou Holtz at NCSU; coached with Ross at Maryland; and coached with Thalman at VMI).

During his years as a receiver at William & Mary, Cavanaugh surpassed the Tribe's career record in receiving with 117 catches and over 1,600 yards. He also earned honorable mention All-America honors in 1967 and was co-captain of his team in 1969. Cavanaugh was inducted into the William & Mary Sports Hall of Fame in April 2001.

Married to the former Marsha Carnell, he has two children – Ryan, who has worked in the NFL, and Lauren, who graduated from Tech in 2002.

Ryan and his wife, the former Melissa Searls, have two daughters, Mallory (7) and Samantha (5), while Lauren and her husband, Rob Reddick, have three children, Matthew (8), Marshall (6) and Mille (4).

Bryan Stinespring, an integral member of the Virginia Tech staff as both a coach and recruiter, is in his 11th season overseeing the Hokies' offense. Stinespring was promoted to offensive coordinator in December 2001 and began those duties during the Hokies' Gator Bowl game against Florida State on New Year's Day. He also coaches the tight ends and offensive tackles along the line.

The 2012 season marks Stinespring's 20th year as a full-time coach on Frank Beamer's staff at Tech. In 2006, he returned to coaching the tight ends after eight seasons as the offensive line coach.

During his time as the offensive line coach, one of Stinespring's star pupils, center Jake Grove, won the 2003 Rimington Trophy and became the university's third unanimous All-American. He was the first center taken in the 2004 NFL Draft.

Last year, junior tailback David Wilson broke the school's single-season rushing record en route to ACC Player of the Year honors and becoming an NFL first-round draft pick, while sophomore quarterback Logan Thomas set a new school record for total offense in a season. His offense also featured the top two receivers in school history and Jacobs Blocking Trophy recipient Blake DeChristopher at tackle.

In 2010, Stinespring's offense flourished and was led by ACC Player of the Year Tyrod Taylor who quarterbacked the Hokies to an ACC title. In 2009, freshman Ryan Williams led a rushing offense that ranked 14th in the country; and, in 2007, Stinespring had four players from his offense taken in the NFL Draft, including offensive tackle Duane Brown in the first round. In 2005, three of his linemen were named to the All-ACC team with two of them earning first-team honors.

Stinespring took over the offensive line duties in the spring of 1998 and helped mold Tech's young line into a unit that showed steady improvement during the '98 season. Two members of that line – tackle Derek Smith and guard Dwight Vick – went on to sign with NFL teams.

In 1999 and 2000, the offensive line helped clear the way as the Hokies set new BIG EAST rushing marks in back-to-back seasons. Center Keith Short, guard Matt Lehr and tackle Dave Kadela all earned second-team All-BIG EAST honors in '99. Lehr repeated as a second-team pick in 2000, while Kadela moved to first team. In 2002, tackle Anthony Davis earned all-conference honors as the offensive front cleared the way for record-setting tailbacks Lee Suggs and Kevin Jones, who combined for over 2,100 yards.

Prior to taking over the O-line duties, Stinespring coached Tech's tight ends and assisted with the offensive line for five seasons. He was the Hokies' recruiting coordinator for eight years (1994-2001) and continues to be instrumental in helping attract top high school talent to campus. In 2001, he served as Tech's assistant head coach along with his other duties.

Stinespring initially joined the Tech staff in 1990 as a graduate assistant coach and spent two seasons in that capacity helping with the offensive line. After serving as the director of sports programs in 1992, he was elevated to a full-time coaching position prior to the 1993 season.

A native of Clifton Forge, Va., Stinespring was a walk-on player for James Madison University in the early 1980s. He is married to the former Shelley Franklin of Richmond, Va. Bryan and Shelley have a son, Daniel, 18; twin daughters, Caroline and Olivia, who are 14 years old, and another daughter, Ella, 9.

Former Virginia Tech long snapper and receiver Shane Beamer is in his second season on the Hokies' coaching staff as the associate head coach and running backs coach after spending four seasons at the University of South Carolina.

In his first year back in Blacksburg, he mentored David Wilson, who broke the school's single-season rushing record and was named both an AP All-American and the ACC's Player of the Year and went on to be taken in the first round of the NFL Draft by the New York Giants.

Beamer coached several spots for the Gamecocks, including the spurs and strong safeties, as well as serving as the special teams coordinator in both 2009 and 2010. Beamer was also Carolina's recruiting coordinator, duties he took on following the conclusion of the 2008 regular season.

In 2009, Beamer's special team units recorded five blocked kicks, tying for the SEC lead and tying for the eighth-highest total in the nation. Beamer helped coach a defense that ranked third in the SEC and 15th in the country in total defense and second in the league and eighth in the land in passing defense.

Beamer's first class as the recruiting coordinator (2009) was ranked the nation's 12th-best class by both Rivals.com and Scout. com and the 2010 and 2011 recruiting classes were again ranked among the nation's top 25. Beamer was nominated for the 2009 Frank Broyles Assistant Coach of the Year award following the season.

Beamer joined the South Carolina staff in 2007, coaching the outside linebackers and serving as the co-coordinator of special teams in his first season in Columbia. He worked with the cornerbacks in his second campaign. That 2008 unit was one of the most productive on the field as they were part of a defensive squad that finished the regular season ranked second in the nation in pass defense and 13th in total defense.

Beamer went to South Carolina after spending the previous three seasons at Mississippi State University. He was hired by Sylvester Croom in January 2004 to coach the Bulldog cornerbacks under defensive coordinator Ellis Johnson. In his first two seasons at MSU he guided three defensive backs to Freshman All-SEC accolades. He made the move to running backs coach in the spring of 2006. He also served as the program's recruiting coordinator.

Beamer went to Mississippi State from the University of Tennessee, where he spent three seasons as a graduate assistant helping with the cornerbacks, coaching the place-kickers, punters and long snappers and assisting in all special teams areas.

He also oversaw game opponent scouting while at UT and earned a master's degree in sport science in December 2003.

Prior to joining the staff at Tennessee, Beamer worked one season (2000) as a graduate assistant at Georgia Tech, helping with the Yellow Jacket quarterbacks and wide receivers.

Beamer earned his bachelor's degree from Virginia Tech in 1999 and was the Hokies' starting long snapper for three seasons. He also contributed as a wide receiver. He played on four bowl teams and three Big East Conference championship squads.

He concluded his college playing career by helping the 1999 Hokies to a No. 2 final regular-season ranking and a berth in the national championship game played against Florida State in the Sugar Bowl.

Born in Charleston, S.C., Beamer is the son of longtime Virginia Tech head football coach Frank Beamer. He is married to the former Emily Gladney, a Starkville, Miss., native. The couple has two daughters, Sutton (4) and Olivia (2).

Curt Newsome is entering his seventh season on the Hokies' staff, coaching the center and offensive guard positions after handling the entire offensive line the previous five seasons. Prior to his arrival in Blacksburg, he was an assistant coach at James Madison University for seven seasons.

A familiar face in the Virginia high school ranks, he is also one of the top recruiters in the region and helped sign prep star Tyrod Taylor in 2006.

Last year's line featured four seniors who helped pave the way for a 1,700-yard rusher who was named the ACC's Player of the Year, and the group finished 22nd in the country in fewest sacks allowed per game. That group included Blake DeChristopher at tackle who earned the ACC's Jacobs Blocking Trophy and Jaymes Brooks, an All-ACC guard. Both went on to sign with NFL squads.

In 2010, his line included three All-ACC selections while the 2009 line featured four All-conference selections. In 2009, Ed Wang was drafted by the Buffalo Bills and Sergio Render signed a free agent deal with Tampa Bay. These lines came on the heels of a 2008 line that helped pave the way for 1,200-yard rusher Darren Evans as the Hokies gelled late en route to ACC and Orange Bowl titles.

In 2007, Newsome had to deal with player injuries throughout the season, but had a line playing its best ball at the end of the year, led by eventual first-round draft pick Duane Brown. In 2006, his young line came along as the season progressed. Senior Brandon Frye was taken in the NFL Draft by Houston and started several games for Seattle last season.

Newsome served as the offensive line coach and assistant head coach his last three seasons at James Madison, helping guide the Dukes to the Division I-AA national championship in 2004. He joined the JMU staff in March 1999 and worked as the defensive line coach his first three seasons. In 2002, he coached Madison's offensive tackles and tight ends.

During his stint at JMU, Newsome coached All-Americans on both sides of the ball - defensive end Chris Morant, who was a two-time first-team All-American, and offensive guard Matt Magerko, who received first-team AP All-America honors in 2004 when the Dukes won the I-AA national title.

Prior to joining the JMU staff, Newsome was head coach in 1998 at Newport News' Heritage High School, where he was the AP's Virginia Scholastic Coach of the Year. He coached from 1987 to 1997 at Kecoughtan High School and also coached at both Phoebus and Ervington high schools.

Newsome received a bachelor's degree in physical education from Emory & Henry in 1982. He and his wife, Melinda, have a son, Curtis, 24, and a daughter, Elizabeth, 17.

Mike O'Cain is in his seventh season as the quarterbacks coach at Virginia Tech. A veteran of the Atlantic Coast Conference, O'Cain was formerly the head coach at NC State and offensive coordinator at both North Carolina and Clemson. This season, he will again handle the gameday playcalling duties for the Tech offense like he did in 2011.

A year after losing one of the greatest quarterbacks to suit up for the Hokies, O'Cain started over with Logan Thomas. All he did was go on to break the school's single-season record for total offense and became just the second 3,000-yard passer in school history.

The 33-year coaching veteran spent four seasons developing Tyrod Taylor into a dynamic playmaker who led Tech to three ACC titles in four years and was named the league's player of the year as a senior.

O'Cain returned to the sidelines in 2006 after a one-year hiatus in which he served as the color commentator for the Hokie Playback broadcasts of home Virginia Tech football games. Prior to that, he coached at Clemson in 2004, serving as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. In 2003, he was a big reason Charlie Whitehurst established 33 school records, including the passing yardage and completion records for a season. Whitehurst is now in the NFL with the San Diego Chargers while Taylor was drafted by the Baltimore Ravens in 2011.

In his first year at Tech, he brought along Sean Glennon, who passed for over 2,000 yards in his first year as a starter, while the 2007 combo of Glennon and Taylor combined for 2,723 passing yards and 24 total touchdowns.

O'Cain began his coaching career at Clemson in 1977 as a graduate assistant. He coached the offensive backfield at The Citadel for the 1978-80 seasons before moving to Murray State, where he was an assistant under Tech head coach Frank Beamer from 1981-84.

After one year as the assistant head coach at East Carolina, O'Cain joined Dick Sheridan as quarterbacks coach at NC State. O'Cain served as a top assistant under Sheridan from 1986-92 and was a part of a staff that coached the Wolfpack in six bowl games. In 1993, Sheridan decided to retire just five weeks prior to the start of August practice and O'Cain was promoted to head coach. Despite a short period of time for preparation, O'Cain took NC State to a 7-4 regular-season record and an invitation to the Hall of Fame Bowl.

The next year, O'Cain guided the Wolfpack to a second-place ACC finish with an 8-3 record. He completed the season with a victory over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl to become just the second coach in NC State history to take a team to a bowl in his first two seasons with the program.

In 1998, O'Cain guided the 'Pack to a win over No. 1 Florida State, then won at Texas in 1999. For the Seminoles, that was one of just two losses in ACC play during the team's first nine years in the league. He coached the Wolfpack to their third bowl trip in his tenure.

After the 1999 season, O'Cain joined the North Carolina football staff as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. He helped the Tar Heels to a winning season in 2000, and then moved to Clemson in December to replace Rich Rodriguez as quarterbacks coach. He spent four years at Clemson, taking part in three bowl games.

A native of Orangeburg, S.C., O'Cain was a three-year letterwinner at Clemson, where he was the most valuable player and a captain of Clemson's 1976 team, working as both the punter and quarterback. He is still ranked in Clemson's history for passing efficiency. He received his bachelor's degree in recreation parks administration from Clemson in 1977.

O'Cain and his wife, Nancy, have two daughters, Jenny (27) and Lizzi (25).

Kevin Sherman, who coached the top two receivers in school history, is heading into his seventh season as the Hokies' wide receivers coach.

Over the past four years, he helped develop Jarrett Boykin and Danny Coale into the threats that helped them leave Blacksburg as the Nos. 1 and 2 receviers in Tech history in terms of both receptions and receiving yards, respectively.

The duo continued to improve each year under Sherman, finishing with a combined 249 catches for 5,542 yards and 26 touchdowns. Danny Coale was drafted in the fifth round by the Dallas Cowboys and Jarrett Boykin signed a free agent deal with the Green Bay Packers.

Sherman, who spent five seasons serving in the same capacity at Wake Forest University before coming to Tech, is a native of nearby Radford and a graduate of Radford High School and Ferrum (Va.) College.

Three of his receivers from the 2007 team were drafted and both Eddie Royal (San Diego) and Josh Morgan (Washington) are now starring in the NFL. In 2006, five receivers contributed regularly, and three had at least 400 yards receiving.

That senior quartet of Royal, Morgan, Justin Harper and Josh Hyman combined for 2,026 yards receiving and 15 touchdowns in 2007.

During his time with the Demon Deacons, Sherman worked closely with All-ACC performers John Stone and Fabian Davis, both of whom went on to successful professional football careers with Oakland and Tampa Bay, respectively.

Sherman also oversaw the development of Jason Anderson. Anderson set a school record for most receiving yards by a freshman and eventually left in 2004 as Wake's career leader in yards per reception.

Sherman became an assistant coach at WFU after working four years as an assistant coach at Ohio University. Sherman was one of eight Ohio assistant coaches who accompanied head coach Jim Grobe to Winston-Salem in December 2000.

At Ohio, Sherman was responsible for the split end and Z-back positions, which saw increasing action in the Bobcats' Pro-I offense. Sherman helped guide the career of Z-back Raynald Ray, who compiled 925 receiving yards during his career.

As a group, the 1999 receiving corps grabbed more receptions (72) than any group since 1994, while the 2000 unit totaled the highest number of receiving yards (1,046) in seven years.

Prior to his stint at Ohio University, Sherman coached at Virginia Military Institute (VMI). In his four seasons with the Keydets, he coached in several capacities under three different head coaches. Beginning as the running backs coach, he later became the quarterbacks and receivers coach and coordinator for the passing game.

While at VMI, he coached All-America running back Thomas Haskins, who led the Southern Conference in rushing for three consecutive years, and quarterback Al Lester, who threw for nearly 4,000 yards in his career.

A 1992 graduate of Ferrum, Sherman served as captain of the Panther football team and was chosen as the team's Most Valuable Player as a senior in 1990. During the 1991 season, he served as a student assistant football coach before becoming an assistant football coach at Methodist (NC) College in 1992.

Sherman is married to the former Jennifer Williams. The couple has two children, a son, James, and a daughter, Nioka.

Regarded as one of the top defensive minds in the game, Bud Foster enters his 26th season at Virginia Tech. The 2006 Broyles Award winner has helped mold nationally ranked defenses on a yearly basis during his 17 years as a coordinator.

Foster, who was a finalist three previous times (1999, 2001, 2005) for the award given to the nation's top assistant football coach, has gained a well-deserved reputation as one of the nation's most respected defensive coaches while serving on Frank Beamer's football staff at Tech.

After an off year by Foster's standards in 2010, the Hokies roared back to form in 2011 despite starting nine freshmen or sophomores for most of the season after injuries claimed three starters for the year. His defense finished seventh in the country in scoring defense and 10th in total defense.

In 2008, despite losing seven starters to NFL camps from the 2007 team, his young and inexperienced group finished seventh in the nation in total defense and in the top 20 of five other categories. In 2009, his group rounded into form late and finished 12th in the country in total defense and was led by All-American Cody Grimm. His young group led the nation in 2010 in turnover margin and tied for second in the country in passes intercepted (23) with All-American Jayron Hosley leading the way as the Hokies claimed another ACC title.

The 2007 group was also among the nation's elite, featuring a pair of first-team All-Americans in Brandon Flowers and Xavier Adibi, along with six all-conference selections.

The 2006 unit led the nation in total defense for the second straight year. The unit also led the nation in passing and scoring defense. The 2005 squad led the country in total defense and ranked among the top three teams in three other categories. It produced two first-team All-Americans along with four all-conference players. Tech's 2004 defense ranked in the top five nationally in total defense, pass defense, scoring defense, interceptions and turnovers gained.

After helping Tech to the national championship game in 1999, Foster was recognized as the 2000 Division I-A Defensive Coordinator of the Year by American Football Coach magazine. Tech's 1999 defensive unit led Division I-A in scoring defense and ranked third in two other categories.

Following numerous seasons, Foster has been pursued by big-time programs for their defensive coordinator position, but he has opted to continue his long-standing football association with Beamer. That association dates back to 1979 when Foster was a strong safety and defensive end at Murray State and Beamer was the defensive coordinator. Foster began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at MSU in 1981, Beamer's first season as the head coach.

Since coming to Tech in 1987, Foster has worn several coaching hats. He coached the inside linebackers for one year in 1987, then tutored the outside linebackers for the next five seasons. Foster assumed responsibility for both sets of linebackers prior to the 1993 season and also took over special-teams coaching that year. The following year, he coached the inside linebackers and special teams. Foster assumed the position of co-defensive coordinator in 1995 and took over as the sole defensive coordinator in '96. The inside linebackers continue to be his primary responsibility.

A 1981 graduate of Murray State, Foster was an outstanding strong safety and outside linebacker from 1977 to 1980. After two years as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Foster was elevated to a full-time staff position. The Nokomis, Ill., native coached outside linebackers for three seasons before taking over the inside and outside linebackers in 1986. He also served as MSU's recruiting coordinator and worked with special teams.

Foster and his wife Jacqueline have three children: Amy Porter, Grant and Hillary. Daughter Amy has a 4-year-old daughter, Jaiden Olivia.

Former Virginia Tech All-American and Tech Sports Hall of Fame member Cornell Brown is in his second season on the Hokies' coaching staff, working with the outside linebackers and helping out with the defensive ends.

The Lynchburg, Va., native joined the coaching ranks in 2005 as a coaching assistant working with linebackers for the Cologne Centurions in the NFL-Europe League. Brown became a full time defensive line coach for the Frankfurt Galaxy the following year and helped the team to back-to-back World Bowl appearances, winning the league title in 2006. While coaching the defensive line, he helped develop free-agent tackle Remi Ayodele of the Super Bowl Champion New Orleans Saints.

NFL-Europe's schedule allowed Brown to also work as a graduate assistant coach at Virginia Tech during the Hokies' 2006 and 2007 seasons. He helped develop defensive units that led the nation in total defense and scoring defense in '06 and were ranked third and fourth, respectively, in those categories in 2007. He had a helping hand in developing draft choices Chris Ellis, Carlton Powell and Jason Worilds.

Brown attended Virginia Tech and played defensive end from 1993 through 1996, helping the Hokies to a bowl game each season.

Brown became the first Virginia Tech football player to gain consensus All-America honors as a junior when he was named to five first teams in 1995. Brown was a first-team A-A pick by AP, UPI, the Football Writers Association, The Sporting News and Football News. He finished the year with 103 total tackles, including a BIG EAST-leading 14 sacks.

He was selected National Defensive Player of the Year by Football News and was one of five finalists for the Defensive Player of the Year. In 1996, Brown missed three games, but still earned first-team honors from Walter Camp and secondteam recognition from AP. He posted eight sacks, five other tackles behind the line, 19 quarterback hurries and 58 total tackles during the '96 season.

A sixth-round draft pick of the Baltimore Ravens, Brown played seven seasons in the NFL and was a member of the Ravens' Super Bowl XXXV championship team.

Former Virginia Tech defensive standout and NFL product Torrian Gray, who is in his seventh Former Virginia Tech defensive standout and NFL product Torrian Gray, who is in his seventh season as the Hokies' defensive secondary coach, has made a big impact on Tech's defense.

Last year, all four members of his secondary made the All-ACC squad. That secondary helped Tech finish 14th in the country in pass efficiency defense and tied for 18th nationally in passes intercepted. Corner Kyle Fuller led the team with 14.5 tackles for loss and the secondary combined for 10 of Tech's 16 picks.

In 2010, the defense – led by first-team All-American Jayron Hosley – finished tied for second in the country in passes intercepted. Hosley led the nation with nine picks and combined with Rashad Carmichael for 13 total interceptions, the most in the nation for a cornerback combo. Carmichael went on to be drafted by the Houston Texans in 2011 and Hosley was taken by the New York Giants in the third round of the 2012 Draft.

His 2009 group finished 11th in the country in pass defense and eighth in pass efficiency defense and was led by eventual NFL draft pick Kam Chancellor. In 2008, led by All-American Victor Harris, Gray's secondary was ranked among the nation's leaders in pass defense (129.1 ypg) and interceptions (20).

In 2007, Gray oversaw a pass efficiency defense ranked fifth in the country, led by three All-ACC performers in Harris, Brandon Flowers and D.J. Parker. Flowers thrived under Gray, earning All-America honors for the second time, including first-team honors en route to becoming a second-round pick in the NFL Draft. In 2006, Gray led a secondary that ranked as the nation's No. 1 pass defense and the No. 2 team in pass efficiency defense.

Prior to coming to Blacksburg, Gray spent the previous two seasons as assistant defensive backs coach with the NFL's Chicago Bears. During the 2005 season, the Bears ranked fifth in the NFL in passing defense and finished tied for second in interceptions (24) as defensive backs Nathan Vasher and Mike Brown were both elected to the Pro Bowl.

Gray began his coaching career at the University of Maine, serving as defensive backs coach for two seasons (2000-01). Gray spent the 2002 and 2003 seasons as defensive backs coach at the University of Connecticut.

During his playing career at Virginia Tech (1992-96), Gray helped the Hokies to four consecutive bowls for the first time in school history. He played on 97 percent of the Hokies' defensive plays over his last three seasons, starting at rover in 1994 and '95, and handling the starting free safety duties in 1996.

Gray was named All-BIG EAST all three seasons and helped Tech to conference championships his last two years. He shared the team lead in interceptions in both 1993 and 1994 and was named the Hokies' Outstanding Defensive Back in 1996. Gray earned a bachelor's degree in consumer studies from Tech. He was drafted in the second round of the 1997 NFL Draft (49th overall) by the Minnesota Vikings. He started five games as a rookie, including two playoff contests. He contributed as a starter in the nickel package and as a special teams player before retiring in the spring of 2000 due to a knee injury. The Vikings advanced to the playoffs in each of his three seasons.

A native of Lakeland, Fla., Gray is married to the former Elena Fullman. He has a daughter, Tori, who is 14.

Charley Wiles, a former All-America player for Frank Beamer at Murray State, has produced five All-Americans of his own since joining Beamer's Virginia Tech staff as defensive line coach in 1996.

Among the top players Wiles has helped develop during his 17 seasons directing the Tech line are ends Corey Moore and Cornell Brown.

Last season, he started three sophomores and a true freshman along the line, and that group played a big part in finishing 12th in the country in sacks per game.

In 1999, Moore won the Mike Fox/Bronko Nagurski Award as the nation's best defensive player and the Lombardi Award as the best lineman. He also became Tech's second unanimous All-American and was chosen the BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year two consecutive years. Brown was a two-time All-America pick, taking consensus honors as a junior in 1995 when he was named the National Defensive Player of the Year by Football News and the BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year.

In 2005, Wiles helped mold end Darryl Tapp into a first-team All-America selection, a first-team All-ACC selection, and a Hendricks and Lott Awards finalist. Tapp now plays on Sundays for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Wiles also coached John Engelberger, who was named to the second team on The Associated Press All-America team, and tackle David Pugh, who was a third-team All-America pick by The Sporting News. In 2008, end Chris Ellis and tackle Carlton Powell were both taken in the NFL Draft. In 2009, Jason Worilds flourished under his guidance and was drafted in the second round by the Pittsburgh Steelers. Two other players also signed NFL free agent deals.

In all, 20 of Wiles' players have won all-conference honors, including Tapp, who was a first-team All-ACC pick during each of the Hokies' first two seasons in the league. In 2008, ends Orion Martin and Worlds both earned secondteam honors and were among the league leaders in sacks and tackles for loss.

During the 1999 season, Wiles coached a veteran line which he helped mold into what The Sporting News rated as the best Division I-A defensive line in the college ranks prior to the season. That line helped the Hokies finish first in the nation in scoring defense and third in rushing defense and total defense. Tech's 2001 defensive line was rated as the fourth-best in Division I-A by The Sporting News.

Wiles is on his second tour of duty at Tech. He originally joined Beamer's Tech staff as a graduate assistant in 1987 and worked in that capacity for two years. Wiles first had a player-coach relationship with Beamer, when Beamer was the head man at Murray State. Wiles won Kodak Division I-AA All-America honors as an offensive lineman in 1986.

When he left Tech after the 1988 season, Wiles spent a year on the staff at East Tennessee State. He then returned to Murray State for a six-year coaching tenure, winding up as the Racers' codefensive coordinator. In 1995, he helped coach the Racers to an 11-0 regular-season mark and a berth in the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. Wiles also served as MSU's recruiting coordinator, helping land many of the Racers' top players.

When Wiles rejoined Beamer at Tech in 1996, he fulfilled a goal he had set during his first stint in Blacksburg. The Hokies have competed in bowl games during each season since he rejoined the staff.

ASSOCIATE ATHLETICS DIRECTOR FOR FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

The Virginia Tech athletic department could choose no better person to head up all football operations than associate athletics director for football operations Dr. John Ballein, whose rich history with the university makes him the perfect person for the job. Ballein, who received his doctorate of education from Virginia Tech in 2006 and worked on Coach Frank Beamer's first Virginia Tech staff in 1987 as a graduate assistant coach, handles all administrative and operational duties dealing with the football program and is considered Coach Beamer's right-hand man.

After a year as the running backs coach at Western Kentucky University in 1988, Ballein returned to Tech as recruiting coordinator and has been with the Hokies ever since. He was promoted to assistant director of athletics for football operations in 1996 and, in 2000, received another promotion to his current position for his excellent work throughout the years with Tech football.

A native of Bentleyville, Pa., Ballein was a linebacker at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated with a degree in health and physical education in 1983. He later earned his master's in education from Old Dominion University in 1987. In 1983-84, Ballein served as a teacher and a football coach at Woodrow Wilson High School in Portsmouth, Va., and then at Western Branch High in Chesapeake, Va., in 1985-86.

What makes Ballein so important is the rapport he has with all the players. His office, adjacent to Coach Beamer's, is a preferred hangout for the players, and he is one of the most beloved and respected members of the staff.

"At Virginia Tech, Coach Beamer talks a lot about family," former Hokie standout and San Diego Chargers wide receiver Eddie Royal said. "One of the main reasons that the program truly feels like family is John Ballein. I don't know how he does it, but he doesn't miss a thing. If you've messed up, he's the first person there to help you get back on track. If you've done something special, he's the first person there to shake your hand and tell you great job. Now that I'm away from the program, he's the person who checks in to make sure I'm doing okay. The reason he's so popular with all the players is because you can tell he's genuine. He really cares about us, and that makes it easy to really care about him."

Ballein is married to the former Stephanie Green, a Hokie basketball player in her undergraduate days. They have two daughters, Jordan Gray, 16, and Jalyn Ann, 14.

GIVING COACHES AND PLAYERS AN EDGE IN PREPARATION

To ensure athletes have all the information they need to be ready on game day, the video office equips Hokie football players and coaches with everything required to scout opponents and to improve personal performance.

Virginia Tech's XOS Technology, a system also utilized by NFL teams, gives the coaching staff a wealth of information at their disposal in a matter of seconds. During the week, the department gathers tape of Tech practices and games in addition to opponent footage and labels every play in terms of down, distance, formation, protection and end result. This information is matched with video and then entered into a computer database accessible to coaches and players at any time.

"Players at this level have to realize that there is a lot more involved than just playing the game," Tech defensive coordinator Bud Foster said. "(The XOS Technology) has been a great tool. Besides the quality, it's right there at your fingertips."

To fully utilize the upgraded technology, Tech has provided each individual position meeting room with a pull-down projection screen and video projector connected to the computer database, giving coaches and players 24-hour, easy access to information. All of the coaches' meeting rooms are also equipped with computers, so that each member of the staff can instantaneously pull up footage of any scenario. When on the road, the videography department gives coaches and players laptop computers containing hours of scouting material to analyze while away from the Tech campus.

"The greatest teaching tool is the ability to show someone what they're doing, right or wrong," head coach Frank Beamer said. "With our video equipment, we can do that quickly. The ease with which we can do these things and the way we can put certain plays and scenarios together makes us more efficient in preparing for games on Saturday."

WALK-ONS AT VIRGINIA TECH

From walk-on to NFL draftee. Sound improbable? Not at Virginia Tech, where it's happened numerous times.

Take John Engelberger for example. The San Francisco 49ers selected Engelberger as the 35th overall pick in the 2000 NFL Draft.

Engelberger, who arrived in Blacksburg as a walk-on in 1995, was following in the footsteps of tight end John Burke, who graduated from Tech's walk-on program as a fourth-round draft pick of the New England Patriots in 1994.

Six years ago, Will Montgomery was taken by the Carolina Panthers in the seventh round and ended up starting four games at offensive guard as a rookie and almost every game for the Washington Redskins each of the past two seasons.

And in April of 2010, Cody Grimm completed his fairy tale story by being selected in the seventh round by Tampa Bay. He arrived at Tech as an undersized walk-on who played special teams for three years, earning a scholarship along the way for his hard work. But he had a breakout senior season, one in which he earned All-America honors and caught the eyes of NFL scouts in the end. He has started several games at safety for the Bucs in his first two seasons, returning an interception for a touchdown.

Walk-on players are an important part of Virginia Tech football. With scholarship reductions, not all high school football players earn scholarships to compete in college. But that doesn't mean there isn't an opportunity for those individuals, especially at Virginia Tech, where walk-on athletes have a history of contributing.

The walk-ons at Virginia Tech are treated in the same first-class manner as the rest of the squad. Former walk-ons have eventually earned scholarships, earned starting positions, gained all-conference and All-America honors and some eventually played pro football.

"The important thing for a walk-on is to know he's going to be given a chance," Tech head coach Frank Beamer said. "The way you track that is to look at programs around the country to see how many scholarships are given to walk-ons.

"We're one of the top two or three programs in the country in that category.

Cody Grimm

So for a guy who's interested in walking on, there's not a better place than right here at Virginia Tech. We give people a chance and we treat them the same as everybody else."

Engelberger was a recruited walk-on, meaning he was invited to try out for the team. He arrived in Blacksburg in 1995 as a 6-foot-4, 210-pound tight end and got into the weight room, transforming his body into that of a bigtime college football player. After his redshirt year, he earned a scholarship for his tireless work ethic. Thanks to endless hours of work on the practice field and in the weight room, Engelberger finished his career as one of the best defensive ends in Tech history. His dedication to the game paid off as he played nine years in the NFL as a starting defensive end for the San Francisco 49ers and Denver Broncos.

Burke walked on in 1989 and eventually earned a starting position for the Hokies. He was a four-year letterman at Virginia Tech (1990-93) where he caught 21 passes for 303 yards and two touchdowns. Burke was drafted by the New England Patriots in 1994 and was a member of the Patriots' 1997 Super Bowl XXXI team. He also saw action with the New York Jets, San Diego Chargers and the Oakland Raiders.

Burke, Engelberger, Grimm and Montgomery aren't the only Hokies to excel in the walk-on program. Tech had five walk-on players start or see playing time in the 1996 Orange Bowl against Nebraska. All five of those former walkons earned scholarships and paid big dividends for Tech in the 1996 season.

None of these players would have lived their dream and reached their potential if Virginia Tech hadn't extended the opportunity they were seeking. Their eventual success has become a cherished part of the Hokie football tradition and heritage.

"Our walk-on program is so successful for two reasons," said John Ballein, the associate athletics director for football operations, who directs the program. "First, our coaches work at it. When they're out on the road, they're looking for players who can fit into our program. Secondly, we have a head coach in Coach Beamer who is loyal to each player in this program."

Tech's walk-on program has provided countless young men a chance to play collegiate football and prove that the evaluation and recruiting process is far from flawless. It allows a young man to mature physically, improve his football skills and contribute to the success of Virginia Tech football.

"No one really knows the difference between a walk-on and a scholarship player because each person is treated exactly the same," Ballein said. "Players know they have an opportunity to earn a scholarship and that they'll be in the best weight program in the country. Combine all those factors and you have the reason why Tech's walk-on program has been successful."

There are two types of walk-ons at Virginia Tech: the invited walk-on and the true walk-on. The invited walk-ons are players recruited by coaches to come into the Tech program. The true walk-ons are students already enrolled at Tech who try to earn a spot in the program. Tech has two workouts (one in the spring and one in the fall) for these players. From there, some are invited back to try and earn a spot on the team.

Hokie walk-ons not only get the chance to play in one of the best programs in the nation, they get a chance to play for one of the best coaches in college football as well.

"I think our walk-on program is successful because we work at it," Beamer said. "We work at recruiting guys who will have a chance to be a player in our program. We evaluate them very carefully. We only have so many spots for walk-ons now and so it is very important that we get kids who have a chance to earn a scholarship.

"I've always liked walk-ons because a lot of them have something to prove and they work harder and they go right by some scholarship guys as far as playing time."

The success of the Tech walk-on program continues to grow right along with the success of the football program. This year the Hokies will welcome another class of walk-ons who are anxious to prove they could be the next great walk-on story at Virginia Tech.

ATHLETICS OFFICE OF STUDENT LIFE

ASSISTING IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE TOTAL PERSON

At Virginia Tech, student-athletes don't just play sports. With help from the Athletics Office of Student Life, Hokie student-athletes work outside the athletic venue to develop into responsible adults who are assets to their communities.

Led by the Virginia Tech Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, Hokie student-athletes volunteered countless hours in the local community last year. In addition, over 400 Virginia Tech student-athletes earned a 3.00 grade-point average during one or both semesters, while achieving great success within athletics as well.

Inspired by the NCAA Student-Athlete Affairs commitment areas, the Athletics Office of Student Life creates programs designed to enhance student-athletes in five areas: athletic excellence, academic excellence, personal and leadership development, and community outreach and career development. The program has been previously honored for its commitment to serving the good of the student-athletes by the Division I-A Athletic Director's Association as a program of excellence.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is a committee made up of student-athletes assembled to provide insight on the student-athlete experience. It also offers input on the rules, regulations and policies that affect student-athletes' lives on NCAA member institution campuses. Two members of each sports team serve on SAAC each academic year.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

The Office of Student Life aims to help studentathletes lead balanced lifestyles, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills. Each team is required to attend two personal development programs during the year to educate student-athletes.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Virginia Tech student-athletes go through their collegiate athletic experiences with the understanding that they will need to secure a job upon graduation. The Office of Student Life works to enhance student-athlete career development by collaborating with the Virginia Tech Career Services Office. Student-athletes also receive assistance in learning about majors and minors, preparing for career fairs, and obtaining postgraduate scholarships and internships.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The Office of Student Life is also responsible for nominating student-athletes for academic honors and awards. Athletes are nominated for on-campus, Atlantic Coast Conference and national awards. Student-athletes with a 3.0 GPA are rewarded and honored on the Athletic Director's Honor Roll. In 2011-12, 401 student-athletes were named to this prestigious list, 39 more than the 362 who were honored during 2010-11.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Virginia Tech student-athletes are now involved more than ever in the local community. In conjunction with the mission of the Office of Student Life and the Ut Prosim motto, studentathletes are encouraged to volunteer throughout their college experience. Each team partners with a local community organization and volunteers time at community-wide events. Along with large volunteer efforts, student-athletes engage in community support with visits to local hospitals and elementary and middle schools. Community organizations can also request Tech student-athletes to attend local outreach events. Involvement in this program helps maintain and improve the positive relationship between student-athletes and the surrounding community.

In 2011-12, the Virginia Tech football team once again partnered with The United Way of Montgomery, Radford and Floyd to raise funds for local programs and services.

Student-athletes Danny Coale, Logan Thomas and Eddie Whitley participated in the Rachel's Rally Anti-Bullying Campaign by filming a PSA for Andrew Lewis Middle School. The PSA was in affiliation with the Rachel's Challenge Organization, a nonprofit aimed at encouraging students to be kind and compassionate.

The team held its annual Breast Cancer Awareness Day at Lane Stadium at the Oct. 22 game last season against Boston College and sold pink bracelets to raise funds for breast cancer research. This season, the team is leading the way in raising money for the Wounded Warrior Project and will sport special helmets against Bowling Green.

ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

ONE OF THE NATION'S TOP PROGRAMS HELPS STUDENT-ATHLETES GET BIGGER, FASTER AND STRONGER

Before the lights ever come on, before the players run out of the tunnel for the first game and before the first touchdown is ever scored, college football players work on getting themselves physically and mentally prepared for the rigors of a five-month season. Crucial to this process is the athletic performance program, which includes strength and conditioning, sports nutrition and sport psychology.

Thanks to the direction of Associate Athletics Director for Athletic Performance Mike Gentry, the Virginia Tech athletic performance program is among the best in the nation, helping to make the football program one of the best as well.

One of the main support centers of Tech football is the strength and conditioning program. The results of hard work by the staff and the student-athletes have paid huge dividends as the Hokies have pushed their streak to 19 consecutive bowl game appearances.

The Tech football strength program centers around four major lifts. The bench press and squat are lifts for building all-around strength; the push jerk and power clean help players develop explosive power. Gentry's program also includes conditioning and speed development, which the players do in the speed and agility room, Rector Field House (Tech's indoor practice facility) and on the Hokies' track facilities.

Each player has personal goals which he works to achieve. The team is broken down into four groups based on positions relevant to the players' body size. The players work to progress from Maroon, Orange, Hokie, Iron Hokie and Super Iron Hokie status to the Excalibur Award.

The Excalibur Award was created in 2000 in order to recognize the elite performers in a comprehensive battery of physical performance tests. These tests include: the previously mentioned weightlifting exercises, as well as 10-and 40-yard sprints, vertical jump, stand and reach flexibility test and the five-ten-five yard shuffle. All players are evaluated in this system during each evaluation period and ranked from superior to poor in each event. Players achieving a mean score of superior across all events earn the Excalibur Award. Among current players, only James Gayle has achieved this recognition.

Assisting Gentry in the weight room this year are four full-time assistant strength and conditioning coaches. Former football players Jarrett Ferguson and Keith Short serve as the director and coordinator, respectively, of strength and conditioning for football. Former Hokie players Brandon Dillard and Ryan Shuman are the graduate assistants for football's strength and conditioning program.

DR. MIKE GENTRY ASSOCIATE ATHLETICS DIRECTOR FOR ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

Responsibilities: As associate athletics director for athletic performance, Gentry's duties include overseeing the strength and conditioning training of athletes in all 21 varsity sports at Virginia Tech, and he is directly involved in training the football team. Record at Virginia Tech: Gentry was inducted into the USA Strength and Conditioning Coaches Hall of Fame in 2010. He was named the second-annual Samson Strength & Conditioning Coach of the Year in the March 2005 issue of American Football Monthly.

In May 2003, Gentry was honored by the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches when he was named a Master Strength and Conditioning Coach. Gentry is currently one of only 36 coaches in the country to have received the CSCC's highest award. In 1995 and 1996, Gentry was recognized by the National Strength and Conditioning Association as a finalist for the National Strength and Conditioning Professional of the Year.

Prior to Virginia Tech: Gentry worked as an assistant strength coach at UNC and as the head strength and conditioning coach at East Carolina University prior to coming to Virginia Tech in February 1987.

Education: Western Carolina, 1979 (physical education); UNC Chapel Hill, 1981 (master's degree); Virginia Tech, 1999 (doctorate; curriculum and instruction with emphasis in motor behavior).

Family: Gentry has a son, Roy Christopher (Bo), 22, a member of the Hokie football team from 2008-2011. Gentry is married to the former Wendy Ann Williams.

THE FOOTBALL PROGRAM BOASTS TOP-OF-THE-LINE FACILITIES AND TRAINING PROGRAMS

- The team trains in the 17,000-square foot training center on the first level of the Merryman Athletic Center. The weight room facility features free-weight equipment, a full line of Hammer Strength equipment, 12 platforms and a 6,000-square foot state-of-the-art speed and agility room.
- Tech also uses a 10-by-40-yard sand pit located outdoors and adjacent to the weight room for resistive running drills to improve speed. The Hokies also have the practice fields for use in running drills.
- Players can also train in a brand-new, stateof-the-art weight room located on the second floor of Cassell Coliseum. The new weight room, opened in June of this year, is a two-level, 7,800-square foot facility that cost $1 million to build. It features 10 weight stations, a new sound systems, televisions, a plyometrics and agility platform, new offices and the latest in weight room flooring. With the two facilities, the Hokies have more than 24,800-square feet of strength and conditioning training space.

ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

SPORT PSYCHOLOGY

Virginia Tech offers another important service to all of its student-athletes – sport psychology. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes. Bennett works to serve the needs of Tech student-athletes. He is also affiliated with the Cook Counseling Center on campus.

The sport psychology department offers an injury group to afford injured athletes the opportunity to meet with a sport psychologist and other injured athletes and talk about the recovery process. On average, Bennett conducts over 50 individual sessions per week and meets weekly with teams as the need arises.

The response to the sport psychology program has been positive. The student-athletes are very receptive to the services offered by the doctors. The sport psychology office reaches out to student-athletes who may not have considered going to the counseling service that is offered to all students at Virginia Tech.

Responsibilities: Bennett meets with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team building, communication and performance enhancement. Bennett has taught and supervised pre-doctoral level interns.

Joined VT Athletics Staff: 2000 (full time since 2007); 13th year.

Record at Virginia Tech: Bennett began working at Virginia Tech in 1995 at the Cook Counseling Center. Now, as the sport psychologist, he also serves on the committees for nutrition, performance and substance abuse; and the planning committee for the "Summit for Student-Athlete Success" events. He also works with various teams in the area of performance enhancement.

Education: Centre (Ky.) College, 1981, B.A. English, where he played baseball; University of Kentucky, 1988, master's in rehabilitation counseling; UK, 1995, Ph.D. in counseling psychology.

Of Note: Bennett is licensed as a clinical psychologist and has additional training in sport psychology. He is certified as a sport psychology consultant by the Association of Applied Sport Psychology and is a member of Division 47 (exercise and sport psychology) of the American Psychology Association.

Personal: Bennett lives in Blacksburg and enjoys playing golf and basketball, as well as hiking and skiing, in his spare time.

SPORTS NUTRITION

Eating healthy and choosing nutritious diets are important aspects of a Virginia Tech student-athlete's life, and that's why the athletics department implemented the sports nutrition program in July of 2002. Jennie Schafer is the department's director of sports nutrition.

The sports nutrition program offers a wide variety of services that aim to enhance the performance of each student-athlete. Services include individual assessments, team talks, body composition analysis using the Bod Pod, grocery store tours, supplement management and education, disordered eating counseling, travel meal arrangements, and football training table menu planning and management. Schafer works closely with coaches, team physicians, athletic trainers, strength coaches and the sport psychologist to address any performance concerns. She directs the nutrition and performance committee that meets monthly to discuss student-athletes of concern.

The sports nutrition staff manages two facilities, the Nutrition Oasis and Fueling Station, that provide athletes fuel in between workouts, classes and meals. Each facility has chocolate milk, lactose-free recovery beverages, Gatorade, fresh fruit, bagels, and nuts along with nutrition handouts and bulletin boards. Gatorade bars and multivitamins are also available in the sports nutrition office.

Responsibilities: Schafer is responsible for all nutrition and performance related concerns for varsity student-athletes including individual counseling, team talks, body composition analysis using the Bod Pod, recovery nutrition plans, grocery store tours, training table menu planning, travel meal arrangements, managing the Nutrition Oasis and Fueling Station, and supplement education.

Joined VT Staff: 2011; 2nd year.

At Virginia Tech: Schafer worked as the sports nutrition graduate assistant under former director Amy Freel, before being hired as director. Directs the nutrition and performance committee.

Education: Roanoke College, 2005 (B.A., in sociology) while competing in basketball for four years; Virginia Tech, 2009 (B.S., in human nutrition, foods and exercise: dietetics option); Virginia Tech, 2010 (dietetic internship); Virginia Tech, 2012 (master of arts in education).

Of Note: Schafer is in her second year as director. She is a member of the Collegiate and Professional Sports Dietitians Association (CPSDA).

Family: A native of Centreville, Va., Schafer currently lives in Christiansburg.

SPORTS MEDICINE

PROVIDING THE HOKIES WITH EXPERIENCED, PROFESSIONAL CARE

The Sports Medicine Department at Virginia Tech is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas utilizing state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of all Hokie student-athletes. Under the leadership of Associate Athletics Director for Sports Medicine Mike Goforth, the department is constantly improving and developing new strategies to provide the most current and comprehensive care.

Their team of certified athletic trainers, orthopaedic surgeons, Board Certified primary care physicians, chiropractors, physical therapists, sport psychologists, nutritionists, massage therapists and orthotists are available on site to manage the health care needs of Tech athletes. The staff continually looks for ways to enhance the services provided for their athletes as evidenced by its participation in local and national projects pertaining to related topics such as concussion management, prevention of antibiotic resistant types of staph infection (MRSA), high ankle sprains and collegiate health care management strategies. Research is considered instrumental to the sports medicine department. The department has participated in several projects with the engineering department and school of education, respectively.

Tech is entering its ninth full year in the 4,300-square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room, which consolidated the training rooms that existed in the Merryman Center and Cassell Coliseum. The facility gives the training staff a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes. There is top-of-the-line equipment and a unique style of architecture, developed by Glenn Reynolds, AIA and Larry Perry as the consulting engineer. In 2010, Reynolds again helped Tech spearhead another 3,000-square-foot expansion of the training room that will be completed by 2013.

The Ferrell Training Room nearly doubled the size of the former Merryman Center facility. Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing it in the top five percent nationally. The $10 million Merryman Center includes 2,400 square feet of medical space and a physician's suite. The suite is equipped with a new state-of-the-art X-ray system, a fluoroscopy unit and a minor procedure room. The training room also has offices for the staff, dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, a Biodex System 3 and various other pieces of rehabilitation equipment and treatment modalities.

In addition, a training room has been constructed in Rector Field House to serve the football team when it practices indoors, and the Gordon Family Mobile Sports Medicine Unit is a portable training room that can be transported to various venues.

Athletes have many options to help prevent or protect them from injuries. The sports medicine staff takes great pride in treating athletes year-round. Special attention is paid to offseason activity. The staff will analyze past injury data from each participant and construct a preventative program that is followed over a nine-week period between the end of the season and the beginning of spring practice. This same procedure is followed during the summer.

A vital part of student-athlete medical services is access to the LewisGale Hospital at Montgomery's SWVA Center for Orthopaedics and various specialty services offered through HCA Southwest Virginia and its affiliated hospitals.

"We are privileged to have access to the finest physicians and services that HCA has at its disposal," Goforth said. "It is comforting knowing that our local hospital has the best care available in this region of the country for our student-athletes."

If physical therapy is needed, student-athletes can be seen in the Ferrell Training Room by physical therapists Chris Rogers and Erin Gibson, both of whom play a large role in the overall program developed to return an injured athlete to 100 percent. Team chiropractor, Dr. Greg Tilley, provides Tech athletes with specialized treatment for spine-related conditions and plays a huge role in performance enhancement through various chiropractic techniques.

"As certified athletic trainers, for us to have the resources of folks like Erin Gibson, Chris Rogers, Greg Tilley and Gary Bennett is a tremendous asset," Goforth said. "The knowledge and skills that they bring is invaluable."

Team orthopaedic surgeons Dr. Marc Siegel and Dr. James Farmer bring a wealth of experience and skill to assist when athletes need orthopaedic consultation for certain types of sports-related injuries. Both surgeons bring a unique skill set and have an excellent bedside manner that ensures that athletes and parents alike are comfortable and confident whenever surgery may be indicated.

Over the past 13 years, Tech has developed the reputation for producing top-level certified athletic trainers. Graduates are now employed in positions across the country at various levels of the profession. This year, the staff will consist of three graduate assistant athletic trainers: Jon Clark Teglas, Brian Baldwin and Brett Buckner.

MIKE GOFORTH

ASSOCIATE ATHLETICS DIRECTOR FOR SPORTS MEDICINE

Responsibilities: As associate athletics director for sports medicine, Goforth oversees healthcare needs of all student-athletes and organizes all trainers and doctors while supervising all other services Tech offers.

Joined VT Staff: 1998; 14th year.

Prior to Virginia Tech: Goforth came to Tech from the Hamilton Medical Center/Bradley Wellness Center in Dalton, Ga., where he was the director of wellness and sports medicine. He has an extensive background in sports medicine, working at East Tennessee State University, William Fleming High School, Tusculum College, Greene County Sports Medicine/Industrial Cooperative and Pioneer Sports Medicine/Physical Therapy Clinic. He also has numerous opportunities to consult on program development throughout the country.

Education: East Tennessee State University, 1991, physical education; Virginia Tech, 1995, master's in sport management.

Family: Goforth and his wife, Tracy, a teacher at Blacksburg Middle School, have two sons – Ethan, 15, and Luke, 11.

SPORTS MEDICINE

VIRGINIA TECH LEADING THE WAY IN HEAD IMPACT RESEARCH

In 2003, Virginia Tech was the first school to use the HIT System to monitor head impacts experienced by its football players. The HIT System consists of a sensor array that integrates into existing football helmets. This device measures head acceleration for every impact that players experience during each game and practice that they participate in. After each impact is recorded, data is sent to a computer on the sideline for real-time feedback.

While researchers have used the HIT System to better understand the biomechanics of concussion and head impact exposure in football, the athletic training and medical staff have used the system as another tool improve concussion identification in athletes. The 2012 football season will be the 10th year that Virginia Tech has collected head impact data from its players. To date, over 165,000 head impacts have been collected and analyzed. The head acceleration data collected at Virginia Tech using the HIT System has allowed researchers to quantify the head impact exposure that collegiate football players experience. In addition, these data have produced valuable insight to the head accelerations associated with concussion.

Knowing the location, severity, and frequency of head impacts experienced during a season of collegiate football, Virginia Tech researchers developed the STAR, an acronym for the Summation of Tests for the Analysis of Risk, Evaluation System. This system evaluates the ability of football helmets to reduce the probability of concussion, and disseminates the results to the public so that consumers can make informed decisions when purchasing helmets.

The STAR Evaluation System involves of a series of 20 drop tests consisting of different impact locations and energies that represents impacts experienced by collegiate football players. Each drop test is weighted based on how often a player experiences that impact scenario throughout a season of play. For each test, risk of concussion is determined based on the head acceleration produced by each helmet.

An overall predicted incidence of concussion is calculated for each helmet for the given impact exposure to assess helmet performance. This is the first tool to assess helmet performance and make the results available to the public, allowing consumers to make informed decisions when purchasing a new helmet. Led by Dr. Stefan Duma, this work has resulted in a paradigm shift in the way consumers purchase helmets, as well as how helmets are designed. Duma's work and data has been featured nationally on ESPN and NBC, as wekk as in the New York Times and other nationally recognized media outlets.

2011 SEASON IN REVIEW

SUGAR BOWL BERTH HIGHLIGHTS EIGHTH-STRAIGHT 10-WIN CAMPAIGN

The Virginia Tech football team entered the 2011 season looking to defend its ACC title despite losing several key players from last season. After a loss to Stanford in the 2011 Orange Bowl, the Hokies began the season ranked 13th in the nation. Hokie fans were anxious to see the muchanticipated debut of Logan Thomas, who had big shoes to fill as Tyrod Taylor's successor. The offense was looking to have a big season with the electrifying David Wilson, a veteran offensive line and a talented group of wide receivers. With All-American Jayron Hosley and several returning defensive starters from last season, the defense wanted to maintain their reputation as one of the best in the nation.

In the season opener, the No.13 Hokies hosted Appalachian State on Sept. 3 and were able to score on their first three possessions. Thomas threw for 149 yards in his first career start and Wilson rushed for 162 yards and three touchdowns. The Tech defense added three interceptions and the special teams blocked a punt that was recovered by Kyle Fuller in the end zone as the Hokies cruised past Appalachian State 66-13.

The following week Tech traveled to Greenville, N.C. to face East Carolina. After a slow first half for the Hokies, the Pirates led 7-3 going into halftime but tailback Josh Oglesby rushed for his second touchdown of the day late to give Tech a 17-10 edge over the Pirates, a lead it wouldn't relinguish.

Tech was back in Blacksburg the following week to face Arkansas State on Sept. 17, looking to start the season 3-0 for the first time since 2006. Tech's offense got going as Thomas threw for 292 yards and wide receiver Danny Coale had seven catches for 128 yards and a score. Hosley had two interceptions as Tech's defense held Arkansas State scoreless for the remainder of the game, knocking off the Red Wolves 26-7.

On Sept. 24, the Hokies arrived in Huntington, W.Va., to face the Marshall Thundering Herd. The Tech defense was the highlight of the game as they held Marshall to just 6 yards rushing and 251 total yards. Defensive ends James Gayle and J.R. Collins combined for four sacks and 5.5 tackles for a loss as the Hokies defeated Marshall 30-

After the win against Marshall, Tech began to prepare for its ACC showdown against the No. 13 Clemson Tigers on Oct. 1. This was the first matchup between the two teams since 2007. Clemson led the Hokies just 10-3 going into halftime, but the Tigers were able to hold Tech scoreless in the second half and went on to hand Tech a 23-3 defeat.

The Hokies were looking to bounce back with a win against the Miami Hurricanes the following week. Tech led 21-7 going into halftime, but the Hurricanes' 28 second-half points put Miami up 35-31 with 2:51 remaining in the game. Following the Miami score, the Tech offense marched down the field 77 yards and scored on fourth-and-1 from the Miami 19 when Thomas burst up the middle and into the end zone with 56 seconds remaining. The defense held on late as Tech won 38-35 in dramatic fashion.

The Hokies traveled to Winston-Salem, N.C., the following week to face Wake Forest and got off to a slow start, finding themselves trailing 10-0 after the first quarter. The offense, however, was able to score three touchdowns in the second guarter and after giving up 10 points in the first quarter, the defense held Wake Forest to just one other score for the remainder of the game as the Hokies defeated the Demon Deacons 38-17.

The Hokies welcomed Boston College to Blacksburg on Oct. 22 for Homecoming. After a sluggish first half, the Hokies trailed the Eagles 7-6 at the break. But Tech was able to score on its first three possessions of the second half to pull away for the 30-14 win.

Tech was on the road to face the Duke Blue Devils in Durham, N.C., on Oct. 29. The game was highlighted by two big defensive plays made by the Hokies. Late in the fourth quarter, with Tech up 14-10, the Blue Devils decided to go for it on fourth-and-2 but cornerback Kyle Fuller sacked Duke guarterback Sean Renfree and the Hokies took over on downs. After a three-and-out, Tech was forced to punt, and the Blue Devils had one last chance to win the game. Duke's drive was stopped when senior linebacker Barquell Rivers intercepted Renfree with 55 seconds remaining, sealing the 14-10 win for the Hokies.

The Hokies had a week off to prepare for their matchup against Georgia Tech in Atlanta on Nov. 10. Trailing 26-21 in the third guarter, the Hokies responded when Thomas took it in from 12 yards out and reclaimed the lead 27-26 with 32 seconds remaining in the third quarter. Tech sealed the game when Thomas found tight end Chris Drager for a 14-yard touchdown pass, and then Cody Journell kicked a 23-yard field goal with 3:02 remaining to help to pick up a 37-26 road victory.

Tech was back in Blacksburg a week later for a Thursday night matchup against the North Carolina Tar Heels. After falling behind early, the Hokies went on to score 24 unanswered points to go up 24-10 heading into the fourth quarter. The Tech defense gave up two touchdowns late in the game, but held on to beat the Tar Heels 24-21 as the Hokies picked up their 10th win of the season.

Tech traveled to Charlottesville for the final game of the season with the Coastal Division on the line, but the defense was stout and the Hokies rolled up big numbers in the 38-0 win.

The last two games of the season didn't go as planned as the Hokies fell to Clemson once again, this time in the ACC Championship Game, 38-10. Depsite the loss, Tech was invited to the Allstate Sugar Bowl as an at-large selection in the BCS.

In the Sugar Bowl, Tech got a big game from the defense, but the offense couldn't capitalize in the red zone. Despite four field goals from senior Justin Myer, the Hokies fell to the Michigan Wolverines 23-20 in overtime in New Orleans, ending Tech's season with a record of 11-3 overall, including a 7-1 mark in the ACC.

GAME 13: TECH FALLS IN ACC CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

NO. 5 VIRGINIA TECH 10 NO. 21 CLEMSON 38

CHARLOTTE, N.C. - Clemson exploded for 28 unanswered second-half points to break a 10-10 tie and seize the Atlantic Coast Conference Football Championship with a lopsided 38-10 win over No. 5 Virginia Tech at soldout Bank of America Stadium.

Tech lost a fumble on its first offensive play and never seemed to get in sync during its quest for a fifth ACC title. The Hokies turned the ball over three times and committed nine penalties, while amassing just 330 total yards. The Tech ground game that had averaged 199.8 yards per game on the season was limited to just 56 yards.

The Tigers scored on four consecutive second-half possessions. Clemson quarterback Tajh Boyd accounted for two touchdowns passing and a TD on the ground, leading his team to 262 yards of offense in the half and 457 yards for the night.

Logan Thomas accounted for Tech's only touchdown with a 45-yard pass to D.J. Coles, who had career bests of seven catches and 116 yards receiving during the game. Thomas competed 22 of 44 passes for 274 yards.

GAME NOTES

- Jarrett Boykin caught three passes in the game to set a school season record for pass receptions with 57. Boykin surpassed the old mark of 55 catches set by Ernest Wilford in 2005.
- Clemson, which defeated the Hokies 23-3 in Blacksburg during regular-season play, became the first team ever to defeat Virginia Tech twice in the same football season.
- Kicker Cody Journell booted a career-best 42-yard field goal in the game. His previous best was a 41-yarder against Marshall.
- Clemson became the first Tech opponent all season to finish a game with more time of possession than the Hokies. The Tigers controlled the ball for 30:10, while the Hokies had it for 29:50.

GAME 14: HOKIES DROP OT HEARTBREAKER TO MICHIGAN

NO. 13	MICHIGAN	23
NO. 17	VIRGINIA TECH	20

NEW ORLEANS – Michigan kicker Brendan Gibbons booted a game-winning 37-yard field goal in overtime, as the Wolverines knocked off Virginia Tech 23-20 in a wild Sugar Bowl game played at the Superdome.

"I'm proud of our football team," Tech head coach Frank Beamer said. "We battled back and showed great heart ... Our guys hung in there great. A couple of close calls were probably the difference in the ball game, so I'm proud of our football team and the way they hung in there and battled when things didn't look great."

The biggest call of the night went against the Hokies. Tech lost the coin flip in overtime, and Michigan decided to play defense first. On third-and-5 from the Michigan 20, Tech quarterback Logan Thomas appeared to have thrown a touchdown pass to receiver Danny Coale in the corner of the end zone. Officials originally ruled the play a touchdown, but reviewed it, and then reversed the call, saying Coale didn't maintain control of the ball.

The reversal forced Tech to attempt a field goal, and Justin Myer, subbing for starting kicker Cody Journell, pushed a 37-yard attempt wide right. That meant Michigan only needed a field goal to win.

The Wolverines (11-2) ran the ball three straight times to set up Gibbons' attempt. He nailed it, giving Michigan the victory.

For the Hokies, it marked a bitter end to a game in which they dominated statistically. They finished 377 yards of offense and held the Wolverines to just 184. More impressively, Tech's defense – outstanding all night – kept elusive Michigan quarterback Denard Robinson under wraps. Robinson rushed for just 13 yards and completed only 9 of 21 attempts, though he did throw two touchdown passes compared to one interception.

Still, the Hokies showed resiliency, coming back to tie the game twice. Trailing 17-6, Tech got a field goal from Myer with 4:48 left in the third and a 1-yard touchdown from Thomas with 10:22 left in the game. Thomas' pass to Marcus Davis gave the Hokies the needed two points to tie the game at 17.

HOKIE ALL-AMERICANS

VIRGINIA TECH'S UNANIMOUS ALL-AMERICA SELECTIONS

JIM PYNE Center • 1993

In 1993, Jim Pyne achieved something even Bruce Smith failed to do – earn unanimous All-America honors. Pyne helped pave the way for an offensive unit that set school season marks for total offense and scoring in 1993.

The Hokies averaged 444.1 yards and 36.4 points per game and finished 14th nationally in total offense, 11th in scoring offense and 10th in rushing.

Pyne was named first-team All-America by the AP, UPI, Walter Camp, the Football Writers Association and the Football Coaches Association (Kodak). He was one of the 12 semifinalists for the Lombardi Award, which goes to the nation's top lineman.

In four seasons at Tech, Pyne played more than 2,700 snaps and allowed just one quarterback sack. He started 35 consecutive games and 41 of the 42 games in which he played.

COREY MOORE Def. End • 1998, 1999 (Unanimous)

Following an outstanding senior season in 1999, Corey Moore was voted first-team on all six major All-America teams to become the Hokies' second unanimous All-American. He was selected first-team by the AP, the Football Writers Association, the Football Coaches Association, Walter Camp, The Sporting News and Football News.

Moore posted a BIG EAST record 17 sacks during the '99 season to go with 11 other TFLs and 60 total tackles.

He also earned All-America honors in 1998 when he led the BIG EAST with 13.5 sacks. He gained first-team All-America recognition from the Football Coaches Association. Moore was a second-team pick by the AP and The Sporting News and a third-team choice of Football News.

JAKE GROVE Center • 2003

Jake Grove became the third unanimous All-American in Tech football history when he was named to the first team of all five recognized All-America squads: the Football Writers Association of America, the American Football Coaches Association, The Sporting News, the Walter Camp Football Foundation and the AP.

As a senior, he was named first-team All-BIG EAST and was presented the Rimington Trophy in Lincoln, Neb., honoring the nation's top collegiate center.

In 13 regular season games, Grove graded out at 91.8 percent on over 700 offensive plays and led the offensive line in knockdowns with 48.

He went on to be drafted in the second round by the Oakland Raiders in the 2004 NFL Draft as the first center taken.

JIMMY WILLIAMS Defensive Back • 2005

Jimmy Williams became Tech's fourth unanimous All-American in football history when he was named to the first team of all five recognized All-America squads: the Football Writers Association of America, the American Football Coaches Association, The Sporting News, the Walter Camp Football Foundation and the AP.

As a senior, he was named first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference and was one of three finalists for the Jim Thorpe award, honoring the nation's top collegiate defensive back.

In 13 games, he recorded 44 tackles, including two for loss and a sack, along with 14 quarterback hurries, five pass break ups and an interception.

He went on to be drafted in the second round by the Atlanta Falcons in the 2006 NFL Draft.

THE HOKIES' OTHER FIRST-TEAM SELECTIONS

CARROLL DALE E • 1959

After earning second-team Associated Press All-America honors as a junior in 1958, Carroll Dale went on to become the first Virginia Tech football player to earn first-team All-America honors following the 1959 season. Dale was named to the Football Writers Association (LOOK Magazine) and Newspaper Enterprise Association first teams as a senior and was once again a second-team choice by the AP. He led Tech in receiving four straight years and finished the '59 season with 17 receptions for 408 yards and six touchdowns.

BOB SCHWEICKERT QB • 1964

One of the finest triple-threat quarterbacks in the history of the Southern Conference, Bob Schweickert was named to the LOOK All-America team picked by the Football Writers Association following the 1964 season. Schweickert fought off injuries during the '64 season to rush for 576 yards and nine touchdowns and pass for 833 yards and nine more TDs. He also handled the punting duties with a 37.7-yard average. As a junior in 1963, Schweickert earned third-team All-America honors from The Associated Press.

FRANK LORIA S • 1966, 1967 (CONSENSUS)

Safety Frank Loria was the first Tech football player to gain first-team All-America honors in back-to-back seasons and became the Hokies' first consensus All-America pick in 1967. As a junior in 1966, Loria helped Tech to the Liberty Bowl, contributing three interceptions and returning three punts for touchdowns. He was named to first-team A-A squads picked by The Associated Press and the Football Writers Association and was a second-team selection by the Helms Athletic Foundation. Loria was named to six major All-America squads following the 1967 season. He finished the year with three interceptions and 420 yards on punt returns, including a 95-yard return for a TD against Miami. His first-team honors came from the AP, United Press International, NEA, the Football Coaches Association, the Football Writers Association and the Walter Camp Foundation.

MIKE WIDGER LB • 1968

Mike Widger capped an incredible junior season by earning first-team All-America honors from The Associated Press and the Football Writers Association. Widger compiled a record 825 tackling points and was among the national leaders in pass interceptions (7) and return yardage (203 yards). He returned two of his interceptions for touchdowns and scored another TD after pulling the football loose from a Kansas State running back and racing 46 yards to the end zone.

BRUCE SMITH DT • 1983, 1984 (CONSENSUS)

Bruce Smith was named to first-team All-America squads picked by the Football Coaches Association and the Newspaper Enterprise Association after registering an incredible 22 quarterback sacks as a junior in 1983. CORNELL BROWN DE • 1995 (CONSENSUS), 1996

Cornell Brown became the first Virginia Tech football player to gain consensus All-America honors as a junior when he was named to five first teams in 1995. Brown was a first-team A-A pick by AP, UPI, the Football Writers Association, The Sporting News and Football News. He finished the year with 103 total tackles, including a BIG EAST-leading 14 sacks. He was selected National Defensive Player of the Year by Football News and was one of five finalists for the Defensive Player of the Year. He posted eight sacks, five other tackles behind the line, 19 quarterback hurries and 58 total tackles during the '96 season.

BILLY CONATY C • 1996

Considered one of the top offensive linemen in school history, Billy Conaty saw action on 98 percent of Virginia Tech's offensive plays in 1996 and went on to earn first-team All-America honors from The Sporting News. Conaty helped the Hokies to a 10-2 record and a trip to the Orange Bowl that season, grading a winning percentage in 10 of the 12 games and leading the squad with 65 knockdown blocks. He finished his career by setting an all-time school record for starts and consecutive starts with 48.

MICHAEL VICK QB • 1999

In a spectacular freshman season that saw him lead Virginia Tech to its first ever 11-0 regular season and its first appearance in the national championship game, Michael Vick became the first Tech freshman football player to earn first-team All-America honors. Vick was named first-team by The Sporting News. He also was a second-team pick by The Associated Press. The redshirt freshman quarterback was third in the voting for the 1999 Heisman Trophy and second in the voting for the AP Player of the Year. Vick led Division I-A in passing efficiency (180.37), setting an NCAA record for a freshman in the process. He completed 59.2 percent of his passes for 1,840 yards and 12 touchdowns. He also contributed 585 yards and eight TDs rushing.

ANDRÉ DAVIS PR • 2000

André Davis finished the 2000 season second in the Division I-A ranks in punt returns and earned first-team All-America honors on the American Football Coaches Association team as a return specialist. Davis returned 18 punts for 396 yards for a school-record average of 22 yards per return. He tied another school season mark when he returned three punts for touchdowns. His 87-yard TD return against East Carolina was the second-longest in school history.

KEVIN JONES RB • 2003 (CONSENSUS)

One of the highest-rated recruits ever to sign with Virginia Tech, Kevin Jones rushed for a school-record 1,647 yards, including 241 yards against Pittsburgh, on 281 attempts with 21 touchdowns as a junior in '03. He went on to earn first-team All-America honors from The Sporting News, The Walter Camp Football Foundation, FWAA and AFCA. He was named to the second team by AP.

DARRYL TAPP DE • 2005

Considered one of the best defensive ends in school history, Darryl Tapp capped an incredible career, earning first-team All-America honors by AFCA and second-team honors by The Associated Press. During his senior season, Tapp, who started all 13 games, recorded teambests for sacks, tackles for loss and forced fumbles. He recorded 10 sacks, 14.5 tackles for loss and three forced fumbles. Tapp was also fifth on the team in tackles. He won the Dudley Award, given to the state's top player, and was a Lott Trophy finalist.

XAVIER ADIBI LB • 2007

Xavier Adibi teamed with fellow linebacker Vince Hall throughout his career to form what was arguably the best linebacking duo in school history. Though he enjoyed a breakout season as a junior, Adibi put up eye-popping numbers as a senior on his way to first-team All-America honors from the American Football Coaches Association. He led the team with 115 tackles, including 12 tackles for loss, while chipping in three sacks and two interceptions – one of which he returned for a touchdown. In addition to being named first-team All-ACC, Adibi was also awarded a spot on The Associated Press All-America third team.

BRANDON FLOWERS CB • 2007

Despite leaving a year early for the NFL, cornerback Brandon Flowers became only the seventh Hokie to be named a two-time All-American when he was placed on the American Football Coaches Association first team after his junior season. He was also named second team by both The Associated Press and the Walter Camp Football Foundation. Flowers was a third-team AP honoree as a sophomore. In 2007, he placed third on the team with 86 tackles from his secondary spot, adding eight tackles for loss in the process. After leading the ACC in 2006 in passes broken up and passes defended, opponents shied away from him as a junior, but he still managed nine breakups, 14 passes defended and a career-high five interceptions.

VICTOR "MACHO" HARRIS CB • 2008

One of the nation's top cornerbacks, Victor Harris earned first-team All-America honors from Sporting News and was a second-team pick by The Associated Press after a stellar senior season. Harris considered entering the NFL Draft following his junior year, but decided to return, earning his degree along with A-A honors. He tied for 11th nationally in interceptions with six, two of which he returned for touchdowns. A two-time first-team All-ACC selection, he finished fourth in the league in interceptions and passes defended, and third in punt returns. His 15 career interceptions rank third all-time at Tech, while his four career TDs on picks are an all-time record for a Hokie.

JAYRON HOSLEY CB • 2010

Jayron Hosley tied a 43-year old Virginia Tech season record for interceptons on the way to being selected first-team on the Walter Camp All-America squad. Hosley led the nation in interceptions with nine and tied for third in most passes defended with 17. The sophomore cornerback was also a second-team A-A pick by The Associated Press and earned the National Defensive Back Trophy from the College Football Performance Awards. Hosley was named first team All-ACC after topping the league in both interceptions and passes defended. He also ranked second among ACC players in punt returns.

IISTORY ≡

NATIONAL HONORS

JAKE GROVE WON THE RIMINGTON TROPHY IN 2003

Jake Grove arrived on the Virginia Tech campus as a lightly recruited guard from Forest, Va. He left as a unanimous All-American, winner of the Rimington Trophy as the nation's top center and a secondround draft pick of the Oakland Raiders.

Heading into his junior season, Grove made the switch over to the center position and became a natural fit. By the time he headed into his final season, he was gaining headlines and recognition for his play. He was rewarded by being named to all five major All-America first teams. He was awarded the Dave Rimington Trophy, given to the nation's top collegiate center.

COREY MOORE EARNED THE LOMBARDI AND NAGURSKI AWARDS IN 1999

In three years on campus, Corey Moore amassed 35 sacks for losses, totaling 292 yards. He left Tech as the most decorated player ever to put on the Hokie uniform. He won the 1999 Bronko Nagurski Award as college football's Defensive Player of the Year. Moore also won the 1999 Lombardi Award as college football's lineman of the year. He became Tech's second-ever unanimous All-American, joining Jim Pyne. Moore won the Dudley Award as the top college player in Virginia, the BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year award and was selected as Football News' Defensive Player of the Year.

MICHAEL VICK WON AN ESPY AS THE NATIONAL PLAYER OF THE YEAR IN 1999

When Michael Vick took to the field against James Madison on Sept. 4, 1999, little did people in attendance or watching on television realize they would be witnessing the beginning of the most exciting two years in Virginia Tech football history.

In 1999, Vick led the Hokies to a perfect 11-0 regular season and a berth in national championship game, both firsts in school history. The Hokies lost that game to Florida State, but all the talk was about the performance the redshirt freshman put on in that game.

For his accomplishments that year, he was awarded an ESPY by ESPN, given to the nation's top college football player. Vick was awarded the trophy at the ESPY ceremonies on Feb. 14, 2000, in Las Vegas as he mingled with some of sports' all-time greats.

BRUCE SMITH WONTHE OUTLAND TROPHY AS THE TOP LINEMAN IN 1984

Bruce Smith, "The Sack Man" of Virginia Tech football, capped his sensational college career in 1984 by winning the Outland Trophy as America's top lineman.

The big announcement was made by Wilt Browning at a press luncheon in Tech's Bowman Room. Browning, a sports columnist of The Greensboro Daily News and a committee member of the Football Writers' Association of America, began by reading a long list of former Outland Trophy winners. He then said, "Add to that list today, the 1984 winner – Bruce Smith of Virginia Tech."

"The one thing though, that stuck in my mind was the statistic on his tackles for losses," Browning said. "In four years at Virginia Tech, he accounted for losses totaling more than five times the length of a football field (504 yards). That's amazing."

Smith was a consensus All-American and was the first Virginian to win one of the national awards (including the Heisman and the Lombardi).

84 CARROLL DALE

A native of Wise, Va., Carroll Dale entered Virginia Tech in 1956 as an offensive and defensive end. After seeing varsity action as a reserve in the first game of the '56 season, Dale went on to start the remaining 39 games of his college career and became Tech's first bona fide All-American. As a junior in 1958, he was named the Southern Conference Player of the Year. In 1959, Dale was captain of the Tech team and earned first-team A-A honors. Dale led the Hokies in pass receiving each of his four seasons and finished his Tech career with 67 catches for 1,195 yards and 15 touchdowns. He went on to a pro football career that lasted more than a decade and was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1987. His Tech jersey was the first to be retired.

78 BRUCE SMITH

Known as "The Sack Man" of Virginia Tech football, Bruce Smith capped his sensational college career in 1984. As a Tech player, Smith had a career total of 71 tackles behind the line of scrimmage for losses totaling 504 yards. Smith had 46 career quarterback sacks, including 22 during his junior season in 1983 when he was named first-team All-America. In 1984, the Norfolk, Va., native won the Outland Trophy as America's top lineman and was a consensus All-American. Smith was the No. 1 player picked in the 1985 National Football League draft. During his pro career, he established himself as one of the greatest defensive players ever to play the game. He ended his career in 2003 as the NFL's all-time sack leader with 200.

10 FRANK LORIA

Despite his 5-9, 175-pound frame, Frank Loria was one of the most tenacious football players ever to play for Virginia Tech. Loria, who started every game at safety from 1965-67, rapidly established himself as one of Tech's all-time greats. During his junior year, he earned first-team All-American honors. As a senior in 1967, Loria became Tech's first consensus All-American, making seven first-team All-American squads. He finished his Tech career with seven interceptions and a number of punt return records. He went on to coach at Marshall. In 1970, at age 23, he died in an airplane tragedy that claimed the lives of the Marshall football team and staff. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1999. His number was retired prior to the 1971 season.

73 JIM PYNE

Center Jim Pyne became Virginia Tech's first unanimous All-American when he made all five major teams that were selected in 1993. In addition to All-America honors, Pyne was named winner of the Dudley Award as Virginia's Player of the Year. During his four seasons at Tech, he established himself as one of the Hokies' top linemen of all time, leading the charge for the 1993 team that rewrote the school record books for scoring and total offense. Pyne started 35 consecutive games and 41 of the 42 Tech games in which he played. He allowed just one quarterback sack by the man he was assigned to block during more than 2,700 career snaps. Pyne spent nine seasons as an NFL lineman before becoming an assistant coach in the pro ranks.

BEAMER AMONG FIVE WHO HAVE HAD JERSEYS RETIRED

In 2002, the Virginia Tech Athletics Department developed a new policy on retiring football jerseys. This special honor is bestowed to acknowledge an individual who has won an established national award in their sport, while allowing the number to continue to be worn by others. Tech no longer retires numbers. That year, three jerseys were retired in ceremonies. The jerseys of Frank Beamer, Cornell Brown and Michael Vick were the first to be honored. In 2006, Jake Grove had the same honor bestowed upon him. Corey Moore's jersey was retired in 2009.

Frank Beamer Sept. 12, 2002 Winner of eight national coach of the year awards following Tech's 1999 season.

Michael Vick Sept. 1, 2002 Won 2000 ESPY as College Football's Performer of the Year.

 During Beamer's time at Tech, a player at every position on the defensive unit has produced at least one touchdown, and 35 different players have scored touchdowns while playing on Tech's special teams. Altogether, the defense and special teams have combined for 130 TDs since Beamer arrived in 1987, including 113 in Tech's past 232 games.

 Under Beamer, Tech's defense has scored 82 TDs, with 54 coming on pass interceptions, 26 on fumble returns and two on fumble recoveries. The special teams have added 48 TDs, including 17 on blocked punts, 18 on punt returns, eight on kickoff returns, four on blocked field goals and one on a fumble recovery.

 Fittingly, the trend started in Beamer's first game as Tech's head coach when true freshman Jon Jeffries returned a kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown against Clemson. It was the Hokies' first TD under Beamer, and it was the first of many scored by the special teams.

 Under Beamer, 81 different players on defense and special teams have scored TDs. Twenty-three of those players – Don Stokes, Jock Jones, Roger Brown, Lawrence Lewis, Antonio Banks, Jim Baron, Keion Carpenter, Pierson Prioleau, Anthony Midget, Cory Bird, Kevin McCadam, Willie Pile, Jimmy Williams, Roland Minor, Vince Hall, D.J. Parker, Brandon Flowers, Chris Ellis, Vincent Fuller, Eric Green, Rashad Carmichael, David Wilson, Jayron Hosley – scored twice.

 Eddie Royal, Xavier Adibi, Jason Lallis, Ike Charlton and Ricky Hall each had three scores; André Davis had four; Victor Harris had five, and DeAngelo Hall had seven.

 Since the start of the 1993 season, Tech is 75-13 in games it scores at least one TD on defense or special teams. Tech is 79-23 under Beamer when scoring a non-offensive touchdown.

BEAMERBALL II

 Tech's tradition for blocking kicks is another part of BeamerBall. It was carried to new heights in 1998 with 10 blocks during the regular season and two more in the Hokies' Music City Bowl game against Alabama.

 Tech now has 128 blocks in Frank Beamer's 309 games as the head coach. The Hokies have blocked 63 punts (17 returned or recovered for TDs), 38 field goals and 27 extra points.

 The most prolific kick blockers under Beamer have been defensive lineman Bernard Basham (7 kicks) and safety Keion Carpenter (6 kicks). Basham blocked three field goals and four PATs, while Carpenter blocked six punts.

 Tech blocked more kicks in the 1990s than any other Division I-A team. The Hokies blocked 63 kicks during the decade – 31 punts, 18 PATs and 14 FGs. Tech had 46 blocks in the last decade.

 During the Beamer era, Tech has blocked two kicks in a game 22 times, winning 16 of those games. Tech blocked two kicks against four different teams in 1998.

TECH'S BOWL HISTORY

NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP APPEARANCE HIGHLIGHTS BOWL STREAK FOR THE HOKIES

The Virginia Tech bowl tradition dates back to 1947 when the Hokies appeared in the Sun Bowl, and in the 65 years since, more than one million fans have passed through the turnstiles to witness Tech compete in 25 bowl games in 11 different stadiums and in seven states. The closest distance Tech has traveled for a bowl game was to Atlanta, Ga., which is 413 miles from Lane Stadium, while in 2003, the Hokies traveled to San Francisco for their farthest game, 2,440 miles away.

No matter the mileage, members of the Hokie Nation have always showed up in droves to show their support, and the Allstate Sugar Bowl last season proved to be no different. Tech's invitation to the contest in New Orleans extended its bowl appearance streak to 19 consecutive years – the third-longest active streak in the country – as the Hokies dropped an overtime decision to Michigan.

1947 SUN BOWL

The first bowl bid that Tech received followed the 1946 season, when the Hokies played Cincinnati in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas. An early snow covered Blacksburg that year and threatened to end all football practices. Bulldozers and snowplows were used to clear a practice area on the Drillfield and the Hokies got in their bowl preparations. The Tech team encountered more snowy weather when it reached El Paso. The Cincinnati team handled the weather and the Hokies, winning 18-6.

1966 LIBERTY BOWL

It was not until 1966 that Tech received another bowl bid. The Hokies were chosen to participate in the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn., against Miami (Fla.). The Hokies were 8-1-1 entering the contest and were led by All-American defensive back Frank Loria.

Miami, ranked ninth nationally, won 14-7 in a hard-hitting defensive struggle. The Hokies scored first on a 2-yard plunge by Tommy Francisco. But the Miami defense held Tech to only one first down in the last three quarters.

1968 LIBERTY BOWL

Tech returned to the Liberty Bowl two years later in 1968 and squared off against Mississippi. The Hokies were 7-3 after a rocky 2-3 start and were led by another defensive All-American, linebacker Mike Widger. Ole Miss had a quarterback by the name of Archie Manning and he sparked the Rebels to a 34-17 victory after Tech had taken a 17-0 first-quarter lead.

A member of Tech's 1966 and '68 bowl teams was none other than current head coach Frank Beamer, who was a starting defensive back. He was credited with three tackles in the 1968 game.

1980 PEACH BOWL

Tech next went bowling against Miami following the 1980 season and lost 20-10 in a hard-fought Peach Bowl contest. That Hokie team sported an 8-3 record and featured one of the finest defensive units in college football.

Tech tailback Cyrus Lawrence emerged as one of the biggest stars of the game. He rushed for 134 yards and scored the lone Hokie touchdown. Ashley Lee, then a freshman linebacker, had 15 tackles for the Techmen.

1984 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

In Tech's first trip to the Independence Bowl in 1984, Outland Trophy winner Bruce Smith led Tech against the Air Force Falcons. Tech's powerful defensive unit held Air Force to only three first downs in the first half, but the Falcons got rolling in the second half. Quarterback Bart Weiss, named the game's Most Valuable Player, was the ringleader as Air Force won the battle, 23-7.

1986 PEACH BOWL

Who will ever forget "The Kick"? It ended perhaps the most stirring bowl game of the 1986 season as Virginia Tech's Chris Kinzer booted a 40-yard field goal to vault the Hokies past North Carolina State in the New Peach Bowl. The 25-24 victory came with no time showing on the clock and provided Tech with one of its top moments in football history.

1993 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

Almost as dynamic was Tech's 45-20 win over Indiana of the Big Ten Conference in the 1993 Independence Bowl game.

The last minute of the first half of the Independence Bowl will be most remembered for its unbelievable action-packed ending. Virginia Tech was leading Indiana, 14-13, with only 35 seconds left until halftime. Indiana had the ball on the Tech 49-yard line, when DeWayne Knight exploded through the IU offensive line to cause a fumble. That is when Lawrence Lewis got "the world's greatest bounce," returning the loose ball 20 yards for a touchdown to give Tech a 21-13 lead over the Hoosiers.

The Hokies, however, were not finished with their dramatics. Tech's Jeff Holland blocked a Hoosiers' field goal try with no time left in the first half and Antonio Banks settled under the ball and raced 80 yards for a score to give the Hokies a 28-13 halftime lead.

1994 GATOR BOWL

At the end of the 1994 season, the Hokies fell to a tough Tennessee team, 45-23, in a transplanted Gator Bowl contest that was held at Florida Field in Gainesville.

The high-powered Volunteer offense totaled 495 yards in the affair behind another Manning, this time Archie's son Peyton, and highly touted tailback James (Little Man) Stewart. Stewart, Tennessee's all-time leading rusher, ran for three touchdowns and threw for another score en route to earning the game's Most Valuable Player award.

Tech's Dwayne Thomas would not be outdone, dazzling the 62,200 fans in attendance by rushing 19 times for 102 yards and one touchdown. Thomas had a 1-yard burst for a score in the second quarter and rambled 27 yards to set up Maurice DeShazo's 7-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

1995 NOKIA SUGAR BOWL

Tech's 28-10 Nokia Sugar Bowl victory over Texas in 1995 stands alone as the Hokies' biggest win in football postseason play.

The 1995 Sugar Bowl was special, indeed. It was, at the time, the most prestigious bowl appearance for the Hokies and they made the most of it. Tech overcame a 10-point deficit to beat Texas and earn one of the most stirring victories in the school's athletic history.

The momentum changed dramatically when game MVP Bryan Still returned a punt 60 yards for a Tech touchdown with 2:34 left in the first half.

Tech gained a lead in the third quarter (14-10) on a 1-yard plunge by Marcus Parker. Then Still hauled in a 54-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Jim Druckenmiller on a play that spelled doom for the Longhorns.

It was Tech's defense that accounted for the team's final touchdown with 5:06 left in the game. All-American Cornell Brown picked up his second sack of the game, causing a fumble, and tackle Jim Baron scooped up the ball and ran 20 yards to score.

HISTORY

TECH'S BOWL HISTORY

1996 FEDEX ORANGE BOWL

In 1996, the Hokies played Nebraska in another Alliance bowl, the FedEx Orange Bowl. That game, too, was a pressure cooker from start to finish. Nebraska won, 41-21, but led by only three points at 24-21 late in the third quarter.

A crowd of 51,212 at Pro Player Stadium saw Tech quarterback Jim Druckenmiller throw three touchdown passes despite a fierce rush by Cornhusker defenders.

1998 GATOR BOWL

The Hokies made their second trip to the Gator Bowl following the 1997 season to face North Carolina.

The Tar Heels impressed a crowd of 54,116 at Alltel Stadium by holding Tech to a total of 185 yards, its lowest total of the season, and beating the Hokies, 42-3. Tech's only points came on a 40-yard field goal by Shayne Graham late in the third quarter.

1998 MUSIC CITY BOWL

Tech bounced back strong in 1998 by capping a 9-3 season with an eye-opening 38-7 victory over Alabama in the inaugural Music City Bowl in Nashville. A sellout crowd braved freezing rain and a wind chill that dipped below 15 degrees to watch Tech post its first ever win against the Crimson Tide.

Tech clung to a 10-7 lead at halftime before pulling away in the second half behind the defensive and special teams play of bowl MVP Corey Moore. The junior defensive end forced an interception that set up a Tech touchdown midway through the third quarter. Minutes later, he blocked an Alabama punt to pave the way for another Hokie TD. Tech went on to secure the win with two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

2000 NOKIA SUGAR BOWL

In the 1999 season, after a perfect 11-0 regular season campaign, the Hokies returned to the Nokia Sugar Bowl – this time to play for the national championship.

Tech once again put on a great show after a furious comeback led by quarterback Michael Vick. The Hokies led heavily favored Florida State heading into the fourth quarter before falling to the top-ranked Seminoles, 46-29.

2001 GATOR BOWL

For the second time in school history, the Hokies appeared in the same bowl back-to-back when they made the trip to the Gator Bowl in both 2001 and 2002.

Nearly 20,000 Hokie faithful watched Vick play his last game in a Tech uniform in the 2001 game in Jacksonville, Fla., against Clemson. Tailback Lee Suggs ran for three scores and the defense limited the Tigers to 88 yards rushing as the Hokies earned the fifth bowl win in school history. Tech capped its 10-1 season with 41-20 victory over Clemson.

2002 GATOR BOWL

Despite André Davis' 158 receiving yards in his final game as a Hokie, Tech was unable to hold off Florida State and lost the 2002 Gator Bowl, 30-17. The senior class that joined Davis in its last game at the Gator Bowl went down as the winningest class in school history, at the time, with a 39-9 record.

2002 DIAMOND WALNUT SAN FRANCISCO BOWL

The Hokies took their show to the West Coast following the 2002 season and captured a win in the Diamond Walnut San Francisco Bowl. Tech's 20-13 victory over Air Force gave the Hokies a 10-4 final record and marked the third time in four years that Tech had posted 10 or more victories. Tech quarterback Bryan Randall was named the game's most valuable offensive player. He completed 18 of 23 passes for 177 yards and did not have any turnovers.

2003 INSIGHT BOWL

Following the 2003 season, the Hokies made the trip out to Arizona, where they were downed by the California Bears 52-49 in the 2003 Insight Bowl, which was held in front of 42,364 fans at Bank One Ballpark in Phoenix. Cal kicker Tyler Frederickson made a 35-yard field goal on the final play of the game that lifted the Bears past the Hokies. The Hokies, who were playing in their 11th consecutive bowl game, finished the season 8-5 overall.

The loss overshadowed a brilliant game by Tech's offense. Randall had four touchdown passes and a rushing TD, while Keith Willis became the first Tech player ever to catch two touchdown passes in a bowl game. Ernest Wilford broke Antonio Freeman's career mark for receptions, and Kevin Jones, who played in his final game as a Hokie before heading to the NFL, led the Hokie rushing attack with 16 carries for 153 yards and a touchdown.

2005 NOKIA SUGAR BOWL

In the 2004 season, Tech capped its improbable run to the Atlantic Coast Conference title by beating Miami, which led to a berth in the Nokia Sugar Bowl for the third time. Like in 1995 and 1999, Tech fans came out in droves to support their Hokies as the game was a sellout and resulted in a an economic impact of $209.92 million for the city and state.

Randall had a pair of touchdown passes, but the third-ranked Auburn Tigers held on for a 16-13 win over the Hokies in a hard-fought battle in New Orleans. Randall's final toss, an 80-yarder to freshman Josh Morgan, broke the Tech career touchdown passing mark. The loss couldn't take away from a dream season which saw the Hokies win the ACC title in their first year in the league while posting a 10-3 mark and a final national ranking of No. 10.

2006 TOYOTA GATOR BOWL

Although the Hokies got off to a slow start in the Toyota Gator Bowl after the 2005 campaign, they twice rallied from an 11-point deficit to beat Louisville, 35-24, on Jan. 2, 2006, to break a twogame bowl losing streak.

The high-powered Cardinals' offense scored on both of its first two possessions to take a 14-3 lead, but Tech cut that margin to 17-10 at the half. Louisville built the lead back to 11 at 24-13 before the Hokies scored 22 fourth-quarter points – capped by an interception return for a touchdown by linebacker James Anderson – to rally for the win. Cedric Humes was named the game's MVP, and the defense gave up 343 yards of total offense to finish the season ranked No. 1 in the nation in total defense.

2006 CHICK-FIL-A BOWL

The Chick-fil-A Bowl matchup with Georgia on Dec. 30, 2006 was a tale of two halves, with the Bulldogs emerging by a score of 31-24 to halt the Hokies' six-game winning streak. At the intermission, it looked as if Tech might waltz to an easy victory after holding Georgia to 47 yards of offense while building a 21-3 lead.

The Hokies collapsed in the second half, however, as their opponent racked up 28 unanswered points and Tech turned the ball over on four straight possessions. Despite the loss, the Hokies ended the season with at least 10 wins for the ninth time in their history, and finished as the nation's top-ranked defense for the second-straight year.

2008 FEDEX ORANGE BOWL

After winning the ACC championship, the Hokies were awarded a bid to the 2008 FedEx Orange Bowl, their 15th consecutive bowl game. Tech trimmed a 17-point first-half deficit to three points in the second half, but couldn't quite get over the hump, falling to the Kansas Jayhawks 24-21.

With the loss, Tech's season ended at 11-3 overall, and the Hokies saw their five-game winning streak snapped.

It certainly was not the best of evenings for the Hokies. Tech turned the ball over three times and those three turnovers led to 17 Kansas points. The Hokies also had a field goal blocked, allowed a first down on a fake punt that ultimately led to a score, and gave up five sacks.

Even with the loss, Tech's 20 seniors finished as the winningest class in school history, recording a 42-11 overall record.

2009 FEDEX ORANGE BOWL

The Hokies earned a return trip to the FedEx Orange Bowl after beating Boston College for the second straight season in the ACC Championship Game. This time Tech approached its bowl preparation in a different manner and it paid off with a convincing 20-7 victory over No. 12 Cincinnati.

After giving up a touchdown on UC's first drive, Tech manhandled the BIG EAST champion Bearcats for the final 57 minutes of the game. The Hokies controlled the football for nearly 40 minutes, piling up 258 yards on the ground.

Redshirt freshman tailback Darren Evans spearheaded the rushing attack, carrying the football 28 times for 153 yards on the way to MVP honors in the game. Evans and quarterback Tyrod Taylor ran for touchdowns, while kicker Dustin Keys contributed a pair of field goals.

The defense stalled the high-powered Cincinnati offense and intercepted a Tech bowl-record four passes. One of those interceptions, a pick by end Orion Martin at the UC 10-yard line early in the fourth quarter, was the play of the game for the Hokies.

The win capped a 10-4 season for the Hokies and vaulted them to No. 15 in the final AP poll.

2009 CHICK-FIL-A BOWL

Tech played a near-flawless second half on the way to an impressive 37-14 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Bowl. The win capped a late-season run that saw the Hokies win their final five games to finish 10-3 and earn the No. 10 spot in the final AP poll.

Record-setting tailback Ryan Williams helped Tech bolt to a 14-0 lead early in the game with a pair of short touchdown runs. The Volunteers managed to tie the game in the second quarter, but with just 18 seconds remaining in the half, the Hokies stole the Vols' momentum. With the ball at its own 33-yard line, Tech gambled, and quarterback Tyrod Taylor connected with end Jarrett Boykin on a 63-yard pass that set up a Matt Waldron field goal as time expired.

Taylor's play set the tone for what would be a dominating second half for the Hokies. Williams carried the football on seven straight plays on Tech's opening possession of the second half. On the eighth play, Taylor scored from a yard out to give Tech a 24-14 lead.

The Hokies' offense scored on four of five second-half possessions, with Waldron booting two more field goals and true freshman David Wilson adding a final touchdown. Waldron's three field goals were a Tech record for a bowl game.

Defensively, the Hokies were relentless, posting six QB sacks, intercepting a pass, causing and recovering a fumble and holding UT to just 240 total yards. Tennessee managed only 5 yards rushing on 31 attempts and converted just four third downs into first downs. The Tech defense finished the season without allowing a point in the second half of the final five games.

2011 DISCOVER ORANGE BOWL

Stanford scored touchdowns on its first four possessions of the second half to break open a close game and down the Hokies 40-12 in the Discover Orange Bowl played in front of 65,453 fans at Sun Life Stadium. The loss snapped an 11-game winning streak, leaving Tech with an 11-3 overall record.

Stanford quarterback Andrew Luck led the Cardinal attack, which posted 534 yards of total offense. Luck completed 18-of-23 for 287 yards and four touchdowns.

Tech's lone touchdown came early in the second quarter. Trailing 7-2 at the time, the Hokies went 75 yards in 10 plays in a drive that ended with a miraculous play by Tyrod Taylor. The senior from Hampton, Va., scrambled to his left, avoided a Stanford defender, made a pirouette, and fired an 11-yard touchdown pass to tailback David Wilson, who managed to get a foot down before falling out of bounds. Taylor completed 16 of 31 passes for 222 yards, with a touchdown and interception.

Tech's other scores came on a safety and a field goal by Chris Hazley right before halftime. The Hokies trailed just 13-12 heading into the second half but a pair of missed opportunities by Tech, coupled with a number of long plays by the No. 5 ranked Cardinal, quickly put Stanford in charge.

2012 ALLSTATE SUGAR BOWL

Michigan kicker Brendan Gibbons booted a game-winning 37-yard field goal in overtime, as the Wolverines knocked off Virginia Tech 23-20 in a wild Sugar Bowl game played at the Superdome.

The game certainly wasn't without its share of controversy, but the biggest call of the night went against the Hokies.

Tech lost the coin flip in overtime, and Michigan decided to play defense first. On third-and-5 from the Michigan 20, Tech quarterback Logan Thomas appeared to have thrown a touchdown pass to receiver Danny Coale in the corner of the end zone. Officials originally ruled the play a touchdown, but reviewed it, and then reversed the call, saying Coale didn't maintain control of the ball.

The reversal forced Tech to attempt a field goal, and Justin Myer, subbing for starting kicker Cody Journell, pushed a 37-yard attempt wide right. That meant Michigan only needed a field goal to win.

The Wolverines (11-2) ran the ball three straight times to set up Gibbons' attempt. He nailed it, giving Michigan the victory.

For the Hokies, it marked a bitter end to a game in which they dominated statistically. They finished 377 yards of offense and held the Wolverines to just 184. Tech's defense kept elusive Michigan quarterback Denard Robinson under wraps. Robinson rushed for just 13 yards and completed only 9 of 21 attempts, though he did throw two touchdown passes compared to one interception.

Still, the Hokies showed resiliency, coming back to tie the game twice. Trailing 17-6, Tech got a field goal from Myer with 4:48 left in the third and a 1-yard touchdown from Thomas with 10:22 left in the game. Thomas' pass to Marcus Davis gave the Hokies the needed two points to tie the game at 17.

HOME OF THE HOKIES

LANE STADIUM/WORSHAM FIELD

The Virginia Tech football team has enjoyed over a decade of success, going to 19 straight bowl games and winning 10 or more games in eight straight seasons. A big part of that success is the home-field advantage the Hokies enjoy at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field.

Billed as the toughest place in college football for opponents to play by Rivals.com, the Hokies play on not only one of the best playing surfaces in the nation, but with the south end zone and west side additions, the Hokies compete in one of the best stadiums in the nation.

Now entering its 48th season as an arena of collegiate football competition, Lane Stadium/ Worsham Field has gone through numerous changes, renovations and additions. But through it all, it has always been regarded as one of the finest places to watch – and toughest places for opponents to play – a college football game.

A TOWERING NEW LOOK

The third in a series of upgrades was completed at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field prior to the 2006 season, finishing off a magnificent project on the west side of the stadium.

Ground was broken in November of 2004 for the project and crews began building around the former press box, laying the above and below ground settings, as well as removing the two light towers on that side of the stadium.

At the conclusion of the 2004 season, the old press box was removed and the structure was filled in to match what was built up during the 2004 season.

A new press area on the west side, toward the south end zone with a dining area and improved overall facilities, is just the tip of the iceberg.

Additional luxury suites, a new President's area, four private club seating areas, new concession stands, a ticket office, athletic fund offices, an athletics memorabilia area and a new student academic services area were also included in this project.

In addition, the fencing that surrounded the stadium was removed and the area on the west side exterior of the newly renovated stadium was landscaped with walkways and a weekday parking lot for ticket patrons as well as memorabilia-area and Hokie Club visitors. This includes a flagpole plaza near the southwest entrance. Dedicated to former football player and current Hokie Club supporter John Moody, it is a terrific meeting place with the U.S. flag flying alongside the commonwealth of Virginia flag and a Tech flag.

In the summer of 2003, $1.9 million was raised to fund the ongoing planning of the west side expansion, allowing for the ground breaking of the west side project.

In 2005, the inside of the stadium was also given a new look as Hokie Stone was added to the walls in each of the end zones, so there's no question as to where the game is being played for fans watching on television.

New kicking nets were installed in both end zones and a new video board – one-third larger – replaced the old one on the existing scoreboard. New lights that doubled the candlepower and reduced shadows on the field were added as part of the renovation.

With all of these additions and improvements, Lane Stadium has kept up its reputation as one of the best places for college football.

THE SOUTH END ZONE

Prior to the 2002 season, Tech added 11,120 seats in the south end zone to enclose that end of the stadium. The double-deck structure is similar to the Cleveland Browns' "Dawg Pound" section and has bleacher, bench-back and club seats. The structure is enclosed, but has gaps between the existing structure and the new one. This is because of new building codes and a desire to get fans closer to the field.

Below the south end zone stands are several features: A football visitor's locker room which can be divided and used for other sports' visiting teams in the winter and spring.

The June Oblinger Shott Media Center, which houses a press room, two press conference areas, three radio rooms, a dark room and several storage rooms.

The outside of the facility also received a new look, making the entrance more inviting. Walkways and landscaping give the south and west sides a more appealing entrance for fans and teams.

Another addition to the facility is the turf and drainage system that was replaced in the summer of 2001 as Tech became the first collegiate football team to have a new state-of-the-art GreenTech ITM natural Bermuda grass sports field system. It provides excellent drainage with irrigation lines and a vacuum system that can handle up to 16 inches of rain an hour. In the winter of 2003-04, a heating system was installed to keep the grass at an optimum temperature during the winter months.

This innovative system is in place in just a handful of other stadiums in the world and makes Worsham Field one of the finest playing fields around.

A WINNING TRADITION

On Sept. 22, 1994, Tech won its 100th game in Lane Stadium in memorable fashion before a national television audience on ESPN with a 34-6 win over rival West Virginia.

On Nov. 1, 2003, Tech upset No. 2 Miami 31-7 to pick up its 150th all-time win at Lane Stadium, marking the highest-ranked opponent the Hokies have ever defeated.

Tech's overall record at Lane Stadium is 196 wins, 69 losses and six ties in 47 years of play. The Hokies are 123-32-1 at home during Coach Frank Beamer's tenure at Virginia Tech and more impressively, are 105-18 in Blacksburg during the last 19 seasons.

Since joining the ACC prior to the 2004 season, Tech has accumulated a record of 46-7 at home, including a conference mark of 26-6. The Hokies went 32-9 at Lane Stadium/Worsham field while a member of the BIG EAST.

A large part of that impressive record is the home-field environment created by the fans as Lane Stadium has been sold out for 87 consecutive games entering the 2012 season, starting with the final home game of the 1998 season against Virginia.

LANE AND WORSHAM

On Sept. 5, 1992, Worsham Field was officially dedicated in honor of Wes and Janet Worsham, longtime Hokie supporters from Kilmarnock, Va. The Worshams pledged $1 million to the university's Second Century Campaign. The Campaign raised over $18.6 million, almost $1.7 million more than the original goal, thanks to the support of people like the Worshams.

The stadium is named for the late Edward H. Lane, a graduate of the university and a former member of the Board of Visitors. Lane headed an educational foundation project which raised more than $3 million for the original construction. Lane's personal donation was the first received by the fund.

The original cost was $3.5 million, compared with $3.2 million spent for the addition on top of the east stands. The stadium's original capacity was 40,000, but the addition, completed in 1980, raised that number to 52,500. The relocation of bleacher seats dropped the total capacity to under 50,000.

Lane Stadium, featuring a modern lighting system and a seating capacity of 65,632 for this season after a new section of club seats have ben replaced on the west side, ranks as one of the nation's finest collegiate football facilities.

Before moving to Lane Stadium, Tech played its home games in Miles Stadium, which had a seating capacity of 17,000. The late Stuart K. Cassell proposed the new stadium as a part of a general plan for a number of new facilities for the school.

THROUGH THE YEARS

Original construction of Lane Stadium began in April, 1964 and was completed four years later. The Hokies did not wait for completion, playing their first game in the stadium on Oct. 2, 1965. Tech defeated William and Mary, 9-7, that day with only the west stands and the center section of the east bleachers completed. Official dedication ceremonies took place Oct. 23 before a 22-14 win over Virginia.

Through the years, the stadium has seen several changes and renovations. In 1982, the lighting system was added to the facility. The system was first used in Tech's nationally televised 21-14 Thanksgiving Day victory over Virginia that season. The game was broadcast on WTBS and was the first-ever nationally televised game from Lane Stadium.

Prior to the 1989 season, Lane Stadium underwent further improvements. Tech received a donation of 16 flags with the "VT" logo for the stadium. Lane Stadium also received a new paint job which included the addition of maroon and orange stripes around the inner walls of the facility.

In 1991, a new scoreboard bearing BIG EAST Conference logos replaced the old scoreboard at the south end of the stadium, while a new auxiliary scoreboard was placed at the north end. In the spring of 1994, renovations were completed on seven lower sections of the east stands. Renovations included replacing concrete risers and the addition of wheelchair seating.

Before the 1994 season, plaques bearing retired jerseys of Tech heroes Bruce Smith, Carroll Dale, the late Frank Loria and Jim Pyne were added to the wall in the north end zone. With the addition of the north end zone seats, the four retired numbers now fly on flag poles above those stands.

In 2002, three more flags – those bearing the names and numbers of Frank Beamer, Michael Vick and Cornell Brown – were added, retiring their jerseys, but not their numbers. In 2006, a banner for center Jake Grove was added to that collection, as well as one for Corey Moore in 2009.

In 2008, banners were placed on both the east and west sides on beams honoring conference player of the year and national award honorees, including Bronko Nagurski Trophy and Lombardi Award winner Corey Moore and Outland Trophy honoree Bruce Smith.

Prior to the 1998 season, the oldest bleachers were replaced with new locust wood and the stands were waterproofed and top coated. On the east side, the roof on the former visitors' locker room was replaced along with the wooden bleachers in the three sections above the dressing room. Also, additional handicapped seating was added.

In addition to the seats in the north end zone constructed before the 1999 season, the interior block walls and concourse tunnels were seal-coated to match the exterior of Cassell Coliseum and the Merryman Center.

Before the 2000 season, a new scoreboard, complete with "Hokievision" was installed behind the north end zone bleachers.

The south end zone construction project eliminated the old wooden bleachers in that area. But the north end zone bleachers were expanded down to the field, adding close to 600 new, permanent seats to make the north end zone look similar to the new south end zone. This is where The Marching Virginians – one of Tech's two marching bands – sit. These moves cut the capacity to 53,662.

Prior to the 2000 season, approximately 3,000 permanent bleacher seats were added in the north end zone, and, prior to the 1999 season, 2,100 permanent seats were added in the same end zone. In 2003, permacaps were installed over all the wooden seats to enhance fan comfort.

The past seven years, fans saw new conference logos around the stadium as the Hokies made the move to the ACC prior to the 2004 season. In that time, the Hokies have won four conference titles.

PRIDE AND JOY OF VIRGINIA TECH FOOTBALL

Special teams are an integral part of Hokie football and one of the units is called "Pride and Joy." These NFL players and Tech support staff are also a source of pride and joy due to their commitment to Virginia Tech on and off the field. Virginia Tech has a prominent display in the Hall of Legends in the Merryman Athletic Center to honor such former players.

John Engelberger was a dominating defensive end who went from walk-on, to four-year starter at Tech, to second-round NFL Draft pick, earning All-America honors and his college degree along the way.

Waddey Harvey was a standout who started three seasons at defensive tackle and won the coveted Williams Award for leadership and character before joining the Buffalo Bills. Frank and Cheryl Beamer sponsored Harvey for recognition on the Pride and Joy display.

Before starting an NFL career, Jim Pyne, a powerful center in the early 1990s, started 41 games and allowed just one sack in over 2,700 snaps on his way to becoming the Hokies' first unanimous All-American.

Michael Vick was an electrifying quarterback who made a lasting impact on college football while helping Virginia Tech to a national championship game and back-to-back 11-1 seasons before becoming the top NFL Draft pick in 2001.

A two-time All-American, Cornell Brown became the first Virginia Tech football player to gain consensus All-America honors as a junior when he was named to five first teams in 1995. He was selected National Defensive Player of the Year by Football News in 1995.

Lester Karlin is a veteran member of the Virginia Tech staff who made his first contribution to Hokie athletics as a student assistant in the football equipment room from 1971-73 and now as the equipment manager since 1978.

Pierson Prioleau saw action on more than 2,000 plays at rover and on special teams, while starting 36 consecutive games for the Hokies from 1995 through 1998. A two-time first-team All-BIG EAST selection and a Sporting News All-America pick in 1997, he also excelled in the weight room, where he held every record for his position. After helping Tech to two bowl championships, Prioleau began a productive NFL career that included a Super Bowl title with New Orleans in 2010.

Mickey Fitzgerald was a bruising tight end and fullback at Virginia Tech in the late 1970s who earned the nickname "The Incredible Hulk" with his physical style of play. In 1977, Fitzgerald became the first Tech back of the modern era to rush for over 100 yards in each of his first four starts as a running back.

Shayne Graham is a local product out of Dublin, Va., who earned All-BIG EAST honors as a place-kicker. He helped lead the Hokies to the 1999 National Championship game, kicking a game-winner as time expired to beat West Virginia and keep the perfect season alive. He went on to become one of the most accurate kickers in NFL history.

Nick Cullen played in 35 games as a wide receiver over a four-year career from 1987-1990 for the Hokies. In his senior season, he flourished, catching 37 passes for 568 yards and three touchdowns, including 13 passes in a single game against Southern Miss, which still stands as a school record for most receptions in a single game.

NCAA COMPLIANCE

INFORMATION FOR PROSPECTS AND THEIR PARENTS

Compliance with NCAA rules is a never-ending process that requires diligence on the part of the Virginia Tech Department of Athletics and the entire university community. Below is a brief summary of the basic issues that may face a potential student-athlete during his/her recruitment by a Division I college or university.

- 1. For NCAA rules purposes, you become a "prospective student-athlete" commonly referred to as a prospect once you have started classes for the ninth grade (seventh grade for men's basketball).
- 2. A "representative of an institution's athletics interests" (commonly referred to as a booster) is defined by the NCAA as anyone who:
- Is now, or previously has been, a member of any organization promoting the institution's intercollegiate athletics program;
- Has made a financial contribution to the athletics program or an athletics booster organization;
- Has helped arrange any employment for a student-athlete;
- Has been involved, in any way, in the promotion of the athletics program.
- 3. Please be aware that any former Virginia Tech student or former or current member of the Hokie Club is automatically considered a Virginia Tech booster. According to NCAA rules, once an individual is identified as a booster, he/she retains that status forever.
- 4. A booster may not solicit the enrollment of a prospect with the goal of athletics participation in any manner (no phone calls, letters or inperson encounters). On those occasions when a booster unavoidably comes into contact with a prospect, conversation must be limited to normal civility. The conversation must conclude quickly, and no recruitment may occur.
 - 5. It is not permissible for you (or your family)
- to receive any benefit, inducement or arrangement such as cash, clothing, cars, improper expenses, transportation, gifts or loans to encourage you to sign a National Letter of Intent or to attend any college.
- 6. A "contact" is any offcampus, face-to-face encounter between you or your parent(s) or a legal guardian and a member of a college coaching staff during which any dialogue occurs beyond an exchange of greeting. NCAA rules do not permit contacts until July 1 prior to a prospect's senior year.

- 7. An "evaluation" is any off-campus activity by a member of a college coaching staff designed to assess your academic qualifications or athletic ability, including any visit to your high school (during which no contact occurs) or the observation of any practice or competition in which you participate.
- 8. The timing for phone calls depends on the sport that is recruiting you. Football coaches may begin on April 15 of the prospect's junior year (one call between April 15 and May 31 is permitted). After May 31, regular calls not to exceed one per week may begin for football on September 1 after the junior year.

If you are a prospect, unlimited calls to you or your family may be made under the following circumstances:

- During the five days immediately before your official (paid) visit to a collegiate institution:
- On the day of a coach's off-campus contact with you;
- During the time beginning with the initial National Letter of Intent signing date in your sport, through the two days after the signing date; and
- In the sport of football only, during the 48 hours prior to and 48 hours after 7 a.m., on the initial signing date for the National Letter of Intent.
- In the sport of football, baseball, men's & women's basketball, cross country/track & field, women's lacrosse, softball and volleyball, during the permissible offcampus contact periods.
- The calendar day after you sign a National Letter of Intent or Virginia Tech's written offer of admission and/or financial aid; or Virginia Tech received a financial deposit in response to your offer of admission.

Coaches also may accept collect calls, and athletics departments are permitted to utilize a toll-free number to receive telephone calls from you (or your family) on or after July 1 following your junior year. You or your family may call a college coach at your expense at any time.

VIRGINIA TECH ATHLETICS WINNING THE RIGHT WAY

- 9. In all sports except men's basketball, letters to you from coaches are permitted beginning September 1 following your sophomore year in high school. A Division I school may provide you with the following printed materials. These following materials must be sent via regular first-class mail service:
 - General correspondence, including letters, U.S. Postal Service postcards and institutional note cards;
 - Game programs which may not include posters and one Student-Athlete Handbook;
 - NCAA educational information;
- Pre-enrollment information after signing a National Letter of Intent or other written commitment to the university;
- Official academic, admissions and student services publications published or videotapes produced by the institution and available to all students;
- Schedule and business cards;
- Questionnaires which may be provided at any time; and
- Camp brochures, which may be provided at any time (provided it is not at a competition).

10. An "Official Visit" is a visit by a prospect to a college where the college pays for some or all of the prospect's expenses. These expenses may include transportation, lodging, meals and/or entertainment. Official Visits are permissible once a prospect has started classes for their senior year.

The purpose of the Virginia Tech Compliance Office is to help make you aware of relevant NCAA rules and assist you in guarding your eligibility. Ultimately, however, you are responsible for protecting your eligibility. This page is provided as a quick-reference guide to give you a basic understanding of NCAA recruiting rules. We encourage you to visit our webpage at www. athletics.vt.edu/compliance for additional information and links providing comprehensive guidance concerning the full range of NCAA regulations. Also, please feel free to call or e-mail any member of the Hokie Compliance Team if you have any questions.

VIRGINIA TECH

A UNIVERSITY INVENTING THE FUTURE

Dedicated to its motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), Virginia Tech takes a hands-on, engaging approach to education, preparing scholars to be leaders in their fields and communities. As the commonwealth's most comprehensive university and its leading research institution, Virginia Tech offers 215 undergraduate and graduate degree programs to more than 30,000 students and manages a research portfolio of $450 million. The university fulfills its land-grant mission of transforming knowledge to practice through technological leadership and by fueling economic growth and job creation locally, regionally, and across Virginia.

LEARNING

Virginia Tech's challenging academic standards attract high-achieving students. More degree programs are available through the university's eight colleges (Agriculture and Life Sciences, Architecture and Urban Studies, Engineering, Liberal Arts and Human Sciences, Natural Resources and Environment, Pamplin College of Business, Science, and Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine) and Graduate School than at any other university in the commonwealth. Some 93 percent of all departments offer e-learning courses.

DISCOVERY

The university's groundbreaking research transforms lives and communities. Virginia Tech ranks in the top 50 research universities in the United States, and with more than 100 research centers and seven university-wide research institutes, the university also consistently ranks among the top institutions in industry-supported research. Tech's nationally and internationally recognized faculty and motivated students are involved in more than 3,500 research projects in fields ranging from biotechnology to materials, from the environment and energy to food and human health, and from transportation to computing information.

ENGAGEMENT

As part of Virginia Tech's outreach mission and in adherence to its motto, the university serves and engages the citizens of the commonwealth, the nation, and the world. The university is involved in a multitude of economic and community development projects, many of which focus on education and the dissemination of knowledge to the global society in which we live.

Professionals, organizations, and communities tap Virginia Tech's vast resources, expertise, and research results through hundreds of continuing and professional education programs and five campus centers located throughout the commonwealth. The institution has a long history of providing innovative distance-learning techniques to meet the various needs of working adults and other nontraditional students.

The Inn at Virginia Tech and Skelton Conference Center on campus and The Hotel Roanoke & Conference Center in Roanoke, both owned by Virginia Tech, support the university's outreach mission by working with faculty to plan and host conferences and continuing education and professional programs.

Virginia Tech manages more than $92 million in funded economic development projects in 44 countries and encourages faculty members to develop global course content and study-abroad opportunities for students. In 2011-12, more than 2,230 students from more than 100 foreign countries studied at Tech, while more than 1,200 Virginia Tech students studied abroad.

Virginia Cooperative Extension, operated jointly by Virginia Tech and Virginia State University, has been helping people improve their economic, cultural, and social well-being for nearly a century. With 106 city/county offices, tens of thousands of volunteers, and programs across the state, Extension reaches and teaches millions of Virginians annually.

CHARLES STEGER

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

Now in his thirteenth year as President of Virginia Tech, Dr. Charles Steger is pursuing the course he laid out to establish Virginia Tech among the nation's premier research institutions. Steger has provided visionary leadership in the creation and implementation of a bold vision and strategic plan, with a demand for quality across all aspects of the academic enterprise. Among the highlights of his presidency to date are the university's adoption of the Principles of Community (2005) and the Virginia Tech Climate Action Commitment (2009). In the minds of many, Steger will best be remembered for making the impossible a reality. He will be forever credited with negotiating Virginia Tech's entrance into the Atlantic Coast Conference in 2004 - a 50-year dream-come-true for Hokie fans. He is currently the Chairman of the Bowl Championship Series (BCS) Presidential Oversight Committee.

One of the most exciting new initiatives to become reality was the completion of the new 144,000-square-foot Virginia Tech Research Center-Arlington (VTRC-A) in 2011 to enhance the university's presence in the National Capital Region and ability to compete for major research grants and contracts.

In addition, the Virginia Tech Carilion Research Institute is fully operational in a new 152,000-square-foot building in Roanoke. VTCRI is now the hub for the world-wide interactive functional brain imaging network.

Another initiative on the horizon is the new Center for the Arts that will open in the fall of 2013. This 130,000-square-foot facility will feature a 1,300-seat performance hall, visual art galleries, and innovative creative technology lab spaces. At the intersection of North Main Street and Alumni Mall, its location symbolizes the university's commitment to the arts and its importance to the university and the broader community.

Since Steger became president, the university has added over 2.4 million square feet of space, mostly in new construction. This surpasses all growth that occurred over the entire period between 1872 and 1960.

During his tenure, the university's annual research expenditures have increased more than 300 percent, now topping $450 million. According to the National Science Foundation (NSF), Virginia Tech is the only Virginia university to rank in the top 50 out of 679 universities in the nation in sponsored research. Shortly after Steger took office, the university launched the Virginia Bioinformatics Institute, which has already secured well over $100 million in external research funding. Virginia Tech has also partnered with a number of other universities to further leverage its research strengths and resources, including Johns Hopkins University, Wake Forest University, the University of Virginia, the University of Maryland, and Georgetown University. Concurrent with the expanding research agenda, the university has expanded its outreach efforts like never before. For example, Virginia Tech has partnered in numerous initiatives in Southside Virginia, including the renowned Institute for Advanced Learning and Research (IALR), which are advancing both educational and economic development opportunities.

A hallmark of Steger's administration is his commitment to the students. With his leadership, the university has reaffirmed its core mission of undergraduate education. The university is dedicated to fostering a research-intensive environment that offers students an opportunity to learn the scientific process while enhancing their critical-thinking skills. Recognizing that graduates will be entering a global economy, Virginia Tech initiated a comprehensive International Strategic Plan and has doubled the number of students participating in international education opportunities.

In 2010, Steger was selected as a recipient of the Michael P. Malone International Leadership Award, sponsored by the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities. During his presidency, five international centers have been established around the globe, and another is being developed in India. While dean of CAUS, Steger was the driving force behind the establishment of Virginia Tech's Center for European Studies and Architecture in Switzerland, which has hosted hundreds of study abroad students from departments across the university.

Another of the most memorable contributions of Steger's administration was his role in the Higher Education Restructuring Act, which took effect in July 2006. Steger was one of the leaders among university presidents to help define a ground-breaking new relationship between the commonwealth of Virginia and its colleges and universities, which enables greater institutional flexibility and potential for growth. This legislation was intended to enable Virginia Tech to perform long-range planning, ensure a stable and predictable revenue stream, and ultimately ensure a quality education for its students.

In 2011, the university successfully completed an aggressive fundraising campaign to "invent the future," surpassing the $1 billion goal by more than $100 million. These funds provide the university with a margin of excellence for its academic agenda. Private support from Virginia Tech's alumni and friends continues to play an essential role in this university community.

Virginia Tech remains one of the most competitive institutions in the state. The university received more than 20,000 applications for the class entering in the fall of 2012. Students offered admission posted an average math and critical reading SAT score of 1251 and an average high school GPA of 4.0. The number of students from underrepresented groups who were offered and accepted admission is up slightly over last year.

Steger received his Bachelor of Architecture degree, Master of Architecture degree, and Ph.D.

in Environmental Science and Engineering from Virginia Tech. His passion for teaching led him to leave a career in the private sector as a professional architect and planner to return to Virginia Tech to teach in the College of Architecture and Urban Studies (CAUS). When he became Dean in 1981 at the age of 33, he was the youngest architecture dean in the nation. After 12 years in that role, he was appointed Vice President for Development and University Relations (1993-2000) before being named President in 2000.

Dr. Steger has been President of the Council of Presidents of the Southeastern Universities Research Association (SURA). He is a member of the National Council on Competitiveness, the Association of Governing Boards, the Economic Club of Washington, D.C., the National Institute of Building Sciences (NIBS), the Senior Advisory Group of the Northern Virginia Technology Council Board of Directors, and the Board of the Innovative Technology Authority that oversees Virginia's Center for Innovative Technology. He is Chairman of the Virginia Council of Presidents and chair of the Virginia Space Grant Consortium. He serves on the Council of Higher Education's General and Professional Advisory Committee and the Virginia Business Higher Education Council. He has been appointed by five Governors of Virginia to serve on various entities including the Steering Committee of the Governor's Higher Education Summit, Virginia Institute for Defense and Homeland Security, and the Secure Virginia Initiative. In May 2010, he was named to the Governor's Commission on Higher Education Reform, Innovation, and Investment. His most recent publications include book chapters on the topics of the business of education and the university presidency.

Steger is a Fellow in the American Institute of Architects (AIA) and holds the William C. Noland Award and the Distinguished Achievement Award from the Virginia Society AIA. The New Century Technology Council awarded him its 2004 Compass Award for visionary thinking and leadership in the field of information technology.

Credited with calm leadership during a very difficult period, President Steger led the university through an extended recovery period in the aftermath of the April 2007 tragedy.

In 2009, President Steger received the Chief Executive Leadership Award from the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) District III for outstanding leadership and service in support of education.

IIM WEAVER

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

James C. Weaver, whose innovative ideas and work as a reformer have made him one of college athletics' most popular administrators, is the director of athletics at Virginia Tech.

Weaver, 67, was appointed on Sept. 24, 1997, and has been a tireless leader on behalf of Tech athletics. His efforts were recognized in 2009 when he accepted the prestigious John L. Toner Award, which is presented annually by the National Football Foundation & College Hall of Fame. The award is given to a director of athletics who has demonstrated superior administrative abilities and shown outstanding dedication to college athletics and particularly college football.

In his 15 years on the job at Tech, Weaver has taken steps to place increased emphasis on projects benefiting student-athletes. Under his leadership, the athletics department entered into a comprehensive agreement with NIKE beginning in 2007-08 which provides uniforms, clothing and equipment for all Virginia Tech varsity teams over an eight-year period. He created a comprehensive awards program for letterwinners and has initiated and funded an annual awards banquet. The Monogram Club was revitalized in 1998 and provides several benefits to former Hokie athletes, trainers and managers.

A top personal priority for Weaver is the continuing improvement of Tech's facilities. Progress is evident in a number of new facilities now in use or currently under construction.

A new football locker room and lounge has been constructed adjacent to Jamerson Athletic Center. The three-story building was completed in 2010 and features a spacious locker room for players and coaches, as well as a lounge on the second floor and a wrestling facility on the third floor. The vacated space in Jamerson has been renovated to provide expanded weight training, sports medicine and locker room facilities for Olympic sport teams.

Plans for a new indoor football practice facility have been approved. This project calls for a regulation-sized AstroTurf surface in a field house conveniently located to the outdoor football practice field. This will allow the indoor track to stay up year-round in Rector Field House.

The remodeling of Lane Stadium's west side was completed in time for Tech's 2006 home opener. It involved the construction of additional new luxury suites, a new President's area, four private club seating areas, a ticket office, athletic fund offices, a memorabilia area and a new student academic services area.

Tech's basketball staffs and teams moved into their new practice facility in 2009. The $20 million building boasts two practice gyms, a 3,000 square-foot basketball weight room, coaches' offices, film rooms and locker rooms.

Weaver presided over Tech's move into the Atlantic Coast Conference in 2004-05, when Virginia Tech and Miami were officially introduced as the 10th and 11th members of the ACC, effective July 1, 2004.

Weaver renegotiated Tech's multimedia rights contract with IMG College, creating an agreement which went into effect in 2008-09 and extends for 10 years to provide enhanced revenue for the athletics department. In the Fall of 2000, Weaver arranged a joint venture with IMG to commit $2 million to purchase new scoreboards, upgrade sound systems, install an L.E.D. video display screen at Lane Stadium (which was enlarged for the 2005 season) and place two wall-mount L.E.D. video screens in Cassell Coliseum.

Weaver came to Tech from Western Michigan University where he was director of athletics from January 1996 until he came to Blacksburg. Prior to that, he was AD for three and a half years at UNLV, where he reconstructed a troubled athletic department.

Weaver brings a "Penn State mentality" to the position. He says that various schools' interest in him as a reformer through the years can be traced to Penn State and its reputation for how it conducts business in intercollegiate athletics.

It was with the Nittany Lions' football team that Weaver first made a name for himself in athletics. He was a center and linebacker on Penn State teams coached by the legendary Rip Engle and Joe Paterno.

A native of Harrisburg, Pa., Weaver was recruited to Penn State by Engle. He played three seasons under Engle and one under Paterno.

"I learned a lot from Joe Paterno," Weaver says. "One thing he said certainly has stuck with me. You either get better or you get worse. You never stay the same.'"

Weaver graduated from Penn State in 1967 with a bachelor's in psychology and rehabilitation education. He received a master's in college counselor education, also from Penn State, in 1968.

Weaver started a coaching career as an assistant at Penn State for six seasons. During that time, the Lions played in five bowl games – the Cotton, Gator, Sugar and Orange (twice).

He later was the offensive coordinator at Iowa State and head coach for one season at Villanova in 1974. He also spent five years as an assistant professor at Clarion State and three years as director of franchise sales at Athletic Attic.

Prior to landing the athletic director's job at UNLV, Weaver spent nine years at the University of Florida. He was a strong force at Florida in the field of compliance and concluded his time there as associate athletics director.

Weaver drew rave reviews at UNLV for his fund-raising expertise. He generated nearly $15 million in his time there and built a new athletic complex.

While at Western Michigan, Weaver announced creation of a $7 million football center, stabilized fluctuating revenues and installed a CHAMPS Life Skills program.

Weaver and his wife Traci have four sons – Josh, Paul, Cole and Craig.

Weaver poses with his wife Traci and four sons – (I-r) Paul, Josh, Craig and Cole – after being presented the Toner Award in 2009.

VIRGINIA TECH ATHLETIC FUND

HOKIE CLUB WORKS TO KEEP TECH'S MOMENTUM BUILDING

Virginia Tech's eighth season in the ACC was successful, both in competition and fundraising results. Thank you to all of the Hokie Club members who generously gave over $28 million in support of athletic scholarships, facilities and programmatic needs in 2011. This is a new fundraising record for the Hokie Club, which also experienced growth in its membership totals during the past year.

"Virginia Tech's high national profile in football continues to motivate our fans in their support of the program. They are proud that their football team has been to bowl games in each of the last 19 years, including eight BCS games. Winning four ACC championships in football plus playing for the title in two other years has added momentum to our fund raising efforts," said Lu Merritt, Senior Director of Development for Intercollegiate Athletics. "I am very proud of every member of my staff for the hard work they did in making 2011 a record year."

Donors make gifts in outright forms such as cash and real estate, or through planned or deferred gifts such as a will or retirement plan. Visit the website at www.hokieclub.com.

The Athletic Fund is proud of its staff and its volunteers who help ensure that the 65 Hokie Clubs throughout the region continue their active efforts to support and promote athletics at Virginia Tech.

Glenn Reynolds of Blacksburg, Va., is the current president of the Athletic Fund and Jim Pearman of Salem, Va., is the vice president.

THE MONOGRAM CLUB

STAYING CONNECTED WITH FORMER TEAMMATES AND COACHES

Virginia Tech's student-athletes hold a special place at the university, even after their playing days are over. That is why the Tech Athletics Department created the Virginia Tech Monogram Club, an organization that caters to former athletes, trainers and managers.

Current Athletics Director Jim Weaver resurrected the Monogram Club in 1998 and has added several incentives for former athletes. After being hired in 2001, former track and field coach Russ Whitenack has guided the Club to new prominence. Under his leadership, the Club has served as host for tailgates after most home football games and prior to bowl games. During the weekend of the Spring Game, the Monogram Club holds a golf tournament and several socials for members and their families. Whitenack also organizes many team and sport reunions as part of his role. The club needs your address to make sure you are invited to all of our events.

Club members receive several other benefits. Each member receives a complimentary subscription to Inside Hokie Sports. Additionally, the Monogram Club receives an allotment of 100 tickets for each home football game that it can sell on a first-come, first-serve basis. For many games, Club members are the only people who can buy individual game tickets.

The Monogram Club maintains a website for its members – www.vtmonogram.com. The site offers several new features such as the ability to search for the addresses of former teammates and get information about upcoming events and reunions. You can also use the link from Hokiesports.com

In hopes of helping former athletes reconnect with their teammates, all registered with the Monogram Club get invitations to Virginia Tech athletics reunions and all social events.

These added perks have naturally translated into larger membership numbers for the Club. However, Whitenack wants to see those numbers continue to grow, particularly among recent graduates. A one-year membership costs $40. A five-year membership costs $160, and a lifetime membership costs $800. Recent graduates are given a three-year complimentary membership if they register on line.

If you are a former Hokie athlete, trainer or manager, contact Russ Whitenack to join the Monogram Club at 540-231-9156 or rwhitena@ vt.edu. It is one of the best values in Tech athletics, and it is the department's way of continuing to say thank you for your service to the university.

VIRGINIA TECH IMG SPORTS NETWORK

'FROM THE BLUE WATERS OF THE CHESAPEAKE BAY TO THE HILLS OF TENNESSEE, THE VIRGINIA TECH HOKIES ARE ON THE AIR!'

That familiar refrain – delivered by Bill Roth, the Voice of Virginia Tech football – opens every Tech sports broadcast and reflects the network's goal of reaching Hokie fans everywhere. So, whether they're sailing off Virginia's eastern shore, hiking in the Blue Ridge Mountains, or sitting in their homes anywhere throughout the Commonwealth, Tech fans know they're always within range of a Tech network radio station.

With a massive network of radio and television stations throughout the region, the Virginia Tech IMG Sports Network serves as the main communications link between Tech's football program and the Hokies' avid legion of fans.

Roth – who has been named Virginia's Sportscaster of the Year nine times – is in his 25th season as the Voice of Virginia Tech football and basketball. A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., Roth graduated from Syracuse University in 1987, earning a degree in broadcast journalism. He also won the distinguished Robert Costas Academic Scholarship in 1986. In 2012, Roth was recognized at the Virginia Tech All-Sports Banquet with an award for his outstanding dedication to Tech athletics.

Roth's cries of "TOUCHDOWN TECH!" have become a favorite of Hokie fans of all ages, and his accurate and exciting descriptions of Tech football and basketball have made him one of the most popular figures on the Tech athletic scene.

"Bill Roth is very much a part of what we're all about here," head coach Frank Beamer said. "When you hear his voice, you immediately think Virginia Tech football."

During the off-seasons, Roth has worked for ESPN in a variety of roles, including calling play-by-play of NCAA lacrosse, baseball, basketball, kickboxing and field hockey. Bill's column, The Kroger Roth Report, appears weekly on hokiesports.com and in Tech's official monthly news magazine, Inside Hokie Sports.

Former Virginia Tech tight end Mike Burnop is serving his 30th season in the booth as the network analyst. Burnop, a star for the Hokies in the early 1970s, was inducted into Virginia Tech's Hall of Fame in 2000. He still holds the Virginia Tech record for receptions in a season by a tight end with 46. Burnop owns New River Office Supply, a business operating in Blacksburg, Pearisburg and Salem, Va.

In addition to his role as analyst, Burnop handles all post-game interviews from Tech's locker room. He has shown his versatility as a broadcaster by shining as the analyst on Tech's basketball broadcasts over the years.

Adam Witten serves as the producer and host of Virginia Tech football broadcasts. Witten provides pre-game, in-game, and post-game reports during the course of each game broadcast. A native of Sarasota, Fla., Witten graduated magna cum laude from Appalachian State University in Boone, N.C., in 2004 with a degree in Electronic Media/Broadcasting. Witten also spent five years with the Appalachian Sports Network, serving a variety of roles on the radio airwaves including football sideline reporter and tailgate show host, men's basketball courtside host and analyst, women's basketball play by play announcer and host of the Mountaineers' football and basketball call-in shows.

Virginia Tech IMG Sports Network Television programming includes Virginia Tech Sports Today, a weekly 30-minute program that is seen every Sunday on a network of TV stations and cable networks throughout the mid-Atlantic and Southeast regions. The program features highlights of every Virginia Tech game, features and interviews with Tech players and coaches.

Hokie Playback is a weekly television rebroadcast of Virginia Tech home football games shown with the IMG Sports Network radio call each Sunday afternoon and evening.

GAMEDAY BROADCAST SCHEDULE

HARDEES CHICKEN TENDERS TAILGATE SHOW

The network's radio coverage begins 90 minutes prior to kickoff. The program features Tech Director of Athletics Jim Weaver and other guests who preview the day in college football.

THE NTELOS WIRELESS PRE-GAME REPORT

THE GAME BROADCAST PRESENTED BY THE VIRGINIA LOTTERY

TOUCHDOWN TECH!! Bill Roth and Mike Burnop fill the airwaves with their unique blend of excitement and wit. The two have called every Tech football game since the 1988 season. Whether the Hokies are playing in Lane Stadium or on the road, you can always find Hokie fans by the thousands with their portable radios following the action on the Virginia Tech IMG Sports Network.

THE KROGER POINT AFTER

Perhaps the network's most popular show, the Kroger Point After is a fast-paced, 90-minute postgame show which features locker room interviews, score reports from around the country and game highlights and features such as the SunTrust Frank Beamer Report, the Stop In Food Stores Stop of the Game, the Virginia Lottery Moment of the Game and the Kroger Player of the Game.

In addition to game broadcasts, The Virginia Tech IMG Sports Network also produces other radio programming including "Tech Talk LIVE! presented by GEICO," a two-hour radio talk show featuring Roth, Tech coach Frank Beamer, Director of Athletics Jim Weaver, and various assistant coaches every Monday night live from Bull & Bones restaurant on Main Street in Blacksburg. JUST VIRGINIA TECH. PI FASE

While the full name of the school is Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, the school is commonly referred to as "Virginia Tech." Founded in 1872, as Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, the university changed its named to Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1896. Fans of the athletics department, as well as media covering the Hokies, shortened the name to VPI, but it eventually became Virginia Tech. The "State University" was added in 1970 to bring the official title to what it is today.

Those covering Hokie athletics are asked to refer to the university as simply "Virginia Tech." Virginia Tech University, VPI and SU, VPI&SU, "Vah Tech," VT or VA Tech are not recognized names and should not be used.

MEDIA INFORMATION

ATHLETICS COMMUNICATIONS

Football media services are coordinated by the Athletics Communications Office, headed by Assistant Athletics Director Dave Smith and Associate Director of Athletics Communications Bryan Johnston. Please direct interview requests for any of the coaches, as well as credential requests to Smith. All player interview requests should be made to Johnston. For photo requests, please contact photography coordinator Dave Knachel.

The Athletics Communications Office is located on the fourth floor of the Jamerson Athletic Center, which is connected to Cassell Coliseum and the Merryman Athletic Center. The office is next to the Bowman Room.

All media members coming to campus during the week need to stop by the Visitor's Center, now located on Prices Fork Rd. in the new center.

Media will be responsible for paying any fines they incur while on campus.

THE PRESS BOX

The press box at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field comprises seven levels. Newspaper, radio and television reporters work on the fifth level.

The media area of the press box is accessible via elevators Nos. 4 & 5, which are located on the west side, in the south tower.

Admission to the press box is by credential only. Smoking is not allowed in the stands or in any enclosed area of Lane Stadium, including the press box and rest rooms.

PRESS CREDENTIALS

Virginia Tech issues media credentials under the priorities listed below. These priorities are designed to achieve efficient use of space available for working members of the media at Virginia Tech intercollegiate athletic events.

The Virginia Tech Athletics Communications Office uses an online credentialing system for individual game requests. Email Bryan Johnston at blj@vt.edu for information on how to apply. Requests the week of the game will be honored on a space-available basis and will be left at the Will Call window at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field if they cannot be mailed. Parking passes can not be left at will call.

Spouses, dates, children, equipment carriers and non-workers are restricted from the press box, sidelines and locker rooms. Any abuse of a working credential will result in the media agency losing credential privileges. Credentials will not be issued to any person under the age of 18.

In some instances, due to space limitations, meeting the identified criteria does not guarantee credentials.

Space for the working press, radio and television is allocated by the Virginia Tech Athletics Communications Office, which reserves the right to deny credentials to any outlet.

Virginia Tech does not allow radio stations to broadcast live shows or segments from the 5th level of the press box – before, during or after a game.

Prioritie:

- 1. Originating radio and television personnel involved in a live television or radio broadcast of a Virginia Tech intercollegiate athletic competition.
- 2. Daily newspapers, wire services, and regional and national publications that regularly and substantially report on Virginia Tech intercollegiate athletics.
- 3. Non-originating radio and television personnel producing reports on a Virginia Tech intercollegiate athletic competition. Only local radio stations with a full-time sports director conducting a regular and substantial sports show reporting on Virginia Tech intercollegiate athletics receive consideration for credentials.
- 4. Officially recognized Virginia Tech student publications and daily student electronic media outlets that regularly and substantially report on Virginia Tech intercollegiate athletics.
- 5. Requests submitted by the opposing team's Sports Information Director.
- 6. Official websites of Atlantic Coast Conference schools, non-conference opponents, and the Atlantic Coast Conference office.
- 7. Non-daily newspapers or publications that regularly and substantially report on Virginia Tech intercollegiate athletics.
 - 8. Pro scouts.
- 9. Online entities that meet the requirements set out in quideline 7, below.

Guidelines

- 1. Season media credentials are issued to those organizations that report on Virginia Tech intercollegiate athletics on a regular and substantial basis, as outlined above.
- 2. With the exception of Hokie beat reporters reporting on the team on a daily basis and producing daily reports, all passes are approved and issued on a game-by-game basis.
- 3. All passes and credentials are non-transferable without prior approval from the Virginia Tech Athletic Communication Office. Passes used by any member of a credentialed outlet without specific editorial assignment or by non-working members of the organization are subject to revocation upon University request.
- 4. Due to limited space and to ensure compliance with NCAA guidelines, credentials for "free-lance" writers or photographers will not be considered without a specific assignment received in writing by the assigning organization.
- 5. Virginia Tech and the NCAA prohibit the issuance of credentials to representatives of an organization that regularly publishes gambling information, such as "tout sheets" or "tip sheets." Virginia Tech will not issue credentials to organizations whose primary function is to deliver news related to the recruitment of student-athletes, unless owned and operated under a national, parent company.

- 6. No credentials will be issued to individuals under the age of 18. Admission to media facilities are for working media only.
- 7. Credentials may be issued: a) to online entities that are affiliated with a national media organization; or, b) to online entities that host a website that regularly and substantially reports on Virginia Tech intercollegiate athletics, and employs for that Virginia Tech-dedicated website at least two full-time, salaried employees who write a substantial majority of all material posted on the site. Neither independent bloggers, nor fan sites where anyone can submit articles for publication, will be credentialed. Online entities must register at least 20,000 legitimate unique users per month in each of the past 12 months, and must have been in existence for a minimum of three years, to be given consideration.

An online entity that meets the requirements of either 7.a) or 7.b) and which sponsors message boards (free or pay) or chat rooms may be credentialed only if the entity enforces its policies regarding abusive, discriminatory and inflamatory material.

- 8. University personnel may deny or revoke credentials without notice and an individual shall surrender his/her credential upon request for: noncompliance with the priorities or quidelines set out in this policy; noncompliance with health, safety, or security directives issued regarding University athletic events; violations of University, Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, NCAA, or ACC policies; and for conduct for which there are reasonable grounds to believe violate state or federal law, or constitute a breach of professional ethics, including inappropriate dress and/or intoxication. Any organization that wishes to contest a denial or revocation shall: a) reguest the Athletics Communications Office provide a written rationale for the denial or revocation; b) submit a written response to that rationale to the Associate Athletic Director for External Affairs. After reviewing the response, the Associate Athletic Director for External Affairs, in consultation with appropriate University officials, shall issue a decision to uphold or reverse the denial or revocation. The Associate Athletic Director's decision shall be final.
- 9. The Virginia Tech Athletics Communications Office reserves the right to change this policy at any time.
